There would be several benefits to this combination. Merging ADK and GBCS at current prices would significantly benefit both companies. Currently, both ADK and GBCS: - share the same office space - are in the same exact business - compete with one another in the same market for the same properties - are in similar geographies with similar clientele - have portfolios which were both assembled by the same person - have some of the same operators - were done with similar economics - have an identical investment thesis - share many of the same investors - trade roughly at the same discount to their implied intrinsic values - are too small on their own to trade at large premiums to their intrinsic values - have duplicate boards and management teams - pay duplicate public costs The combined Company would: - instantly increase the size of the portfolio to 50 properties - save on duplicate board and management expenses - save on duplicate public costs - enjoy more attractive cost of capital - be able to pay out a higher dividend stream as a combined company versus on a standalone basis - appear on more radar screens of Wall Street and potential acquirers because of the increased size of the Company - be able to maintain the use of ADKs $23 million tax loss carry-forward In short, having GBCS and ADK continue to exist as two separate companies simply does not make sense and never did. Combining the two companies would create a plethora of benefits to both shareholder bases and would be a significant win for both companies. Once again, we commend the Board on their decision to add Mr. Sink to their ranks and the work you have done to get the Company to this level. We appreciate the consideration of my proposal as we believe it makes perfect sense for both Companies to work together and not compete with each other and duplicate costs. Regards, Chris L.
