Item 5. Other Events

OWINGS MILLS, Md., Dec 12 /PRNewswire -- Medifast, Inc. (Amex: MED) announced that it has increased 2004 estimates for both revenues and earnings. The Company reported last night at an Investor Presentation two scenarios, one reflecting the anticipated revenue increases as a result of the impact of its National Television Ad Campaign and the other excluding any increased result from television advertising.

Based upon results from a National Television Test Program, the company expects to generate revenues for fiscal 2004 of approximately $48 million and pre-tax Income from Operations of approximately $9 million, resulting in pre-tax earnings per share of $0.72. Excluding any incremental benefit from the advertising campaign, the Company expects revenues of approximately $38 million and pre-tax Income from Operations of approximately $6.9 million, resulting in pre-tax earnings per share of $0.55. The company will not know until its year-end audit is completed what its effective tax rate will be for GAAP calculation purposes.

"We are eagerly anticipating the launch of our national television campaign," said Bradley T. MacDonald, Medifast's Chief Executive Officer. "The entire company has been focused on delivering to what we expect to be a much larger customer base the same quality meal replacement programs that we have become recognized for. The work that we have been doing with Brennan Response has been important, as we now have the infrastructure in place, from an expanded in-bound call center to increase production capability, to handle the anticipated increase in business. We expect to spend the balance of the year positioning the company to be ready for significantly higher revenues."

In September, Medifast completed a test of a national television commercial. The results indicated that for every dollar Medifast spent on television advertising, it generated $3 in new revenues. This compares favorably with the $1.50 in revenues that are currently generated for each dollar in spending on print advertising. The company has assumed for purposes of its $48 million revenue estimates that each dollar of television advertising will generate $2 in new business. Medifast will launch its television campaign in January.

The company plans to initially run its commercials on leading national cable networks and DirectTV, in combination with print advertising it has run throughout the year. Medifast believes that the testing it completed in September will allow it to employ the most effective combination of print and television advertising to maximize returns on its advertising investment. In preparation for the launch, the Company has aggressively built inventory throughout the fourth quarter. In addition, it interrupted production in November for four days in order to reconfigure its facilities for the expected increase in production. As a result of the plant shutdown, November revenues were $1.7 million, a 23.5% increase from the same period last year. The company has completed the modifications, and production has returned to customary levels in December.

Medifast also expects to generate significant 2004 growth from its HI-Energy and Medslim Weight Control Centers. As a result of a recent acquisition, the company is now the sixth largest clinic operator in the United States. It also expects strong growth from its Take Shape for Life and Women's Health divisions.
