2.6 Information about the parties

CEA Holding is a wholly PRC state-owned enterprise and the controlling shareholder of the Company holding directly or indirectly approximately 59.94% of the Company's issued share capital as at the Latest Practicable Date. It is principally engaged in managing all the state-owned assets and equity interest formed and invested by the state in CEA Holding, its group companies and its invested enterprises.

CES Finance is a wholly-owned subsidiary of CEA Holding. It is principally engaged in investment in industry, real estate development, investment management, corporate property trust management, investment consultant (excluding broker), metal materials, chemical products (excluding hazardous products), sales of edible agricultural products and import and export of cargo and technology.

CES Global is a company incorporated in Hong Kong, and an indirectly wholly-owned subsidiary of CEA Holding. Its principal activities are the sale of air tickets and investment holdings.

LETTER FROM THE BOARD

The Company is principally engaged in the business of civil aviation and incorporated in the PRC whose H Shares, A Shares and American depository shares are listed on the Stock Exchange, the Shanghai Stock Exchange and the New York Stock Exchange, Inc., respectively.

2.7 Reasons for and benefit of the Subscriptions

In 2011, the international aviation market was affected by the slow recovery of the global economy, the intensified political situation in certain regions and the natural disasters in Japan, which led to the downturn of international aviation services. Despite the above situations and a decrease in growth rate compared to 2010, market demand for domestic aviation services remained robust as a result of the stable PRC economy and continuous growth of domestic consumption. Currently, the Company is facing a series of adverse factors such as slowdown in growth of the industry, intensified market competition among its peers, fast development of high-speed railways, increased aviation fuel cost and expectation of a slowdown in RMB appreciation. As a result of the challenging market environment, the Company has proactively adopted effective measures and strove to overcome difficulties by optimizing the replanning of flight routes and flight arrangements, fostering construction of its hub network and increasing the marketing network, enhancing its management capability and services quality, and actively improving on the Company's profit model. However, there are constraints on the Company's operation and implementation of its future strategy due to the high debt to equity ratio and relatively large scale of absolute liabilities, which has adversely affected the Company's ability to enhance its resistance to risks.

As a result of the above, the Company's operating and financial condition is under enormous pressure. The continuous fluctuations in global financial markets make it difficult for the Company to obtain financial support in the short run.

Further, the subscription price for A Shares Subscription is determined pursuant to Administrative Measures in relation to Issuance of Shares by Listed Companies) and Rules for the Implementation of Non-public Issuance of Shares by the Listed Companies) which requires that the subscription price for the A Shares Subscription shall not be less than 90% of the average trading price of A Shares during the Fixed Price Period. The subscription price for H Shares Subscription, being the closing price of H Shares on the trading day (being 5 September 2012) immediately prior to the date of suspension of trading of the H Shares on the Stock Exchange (being 6 September 2012), is determined pursuant to PRC Company Law which requires that the subscription price of H Share cannot be below its par value and only reflects a discount of approximately 1.28% as compared to the average closing price of HK$2.35 per H Share for the last 5 consecutive trading days of H Shares immediately prior to the suspension of trading of H Shares on the Stock Exchange on 6 September 2012.

Through the Subscriptions, the Company believes it will improve the financial position of the Company and in the long term, enhance the Company's competitiveness and help the Company to improve its operational position.

LETTER FROM THE BOARD

The terms and conditions of the Subscriptions are agreed after arm's length negotiations between the parties. Considering all these factors, the Directors believe that the terms and conditions of the Subscriptions are fair and reasonable and in the interests of the Shareholders as a whole.

2.8 Recent Fund Raising Activities and Use of Proceeds

The Company has not conducted any fund raising activities on any issue of equity securities within the 12 months immediately prior to the Latest Practicable Date. The total proceeds of the Subscriptions will be approximately RMB3,621,797,976 before deduction of expenses. After deduction of relevant expenses for the Subscriptions, the total proceeds of the A Shares Subscription are intended to be used to repay existing financial institution loans and the remaining balance (if any) will be used to supplement the working capital of the Company; and the total proceeds of the H Shares Subscription are intended to be used to repay existing financial institution loans or to supplement the working capital of the Company.

2.9 Risks Associated with the Subscriptions

There are certain risks that are associated with the Subscriptions, including market risk, business and operation risk, financial risk, management risk, supervisory policy risk and other risks. Investors are advised to exercise caution when dealing in the shares of the Company.

2.10 Financial Impact of the Subscriptions

The total proceeds of the Subscriptions will be approximately RMB3,621,797,976 before deduction of expenses.

The Subscriptions will significantly enhance the capital structure and financial position of the Company by improving its balance sheet and leverage ratios, and thus strengthen the core competitiveness and risk-resistance capability of the Company. Based on the unaudited interim report of the Company for the six months ended 30 June 2012 (prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards), it is estimated that, upon completion of the Subscriptions, the net assets (being total assets minus total liabilities) of the Company would be increased by approximately 16%. The Company had unaudited net assets of approximately RMB22,824.251 million as of 30 June 2012. It is further estimated that, upon completion of the Subscriptions: (a) the current ratio (being the ratio of current assets over current liabilities) of the Company would be increased to approximately 0.40 from 0.33; (b) the quick ratio (being the ratio of current assets excluding inventory over current liabilities) would be increased to approximately 0.37 from 0.29; (c) the gearing ratio (being net debt over total equity) of the Company would be decreased to approximately 2.18 from 2.68; and (d) the ratio of total liabilities over total assets of the Company would be decreased to approximately 0.79 from 0.81.

LETTER FROM THE BOARD

The Subscriptions will reduce the financial costs of the Company. In order to maintain its daily operation, the Company requires a large amount of working capital to settle its operating expenses in cash. Such substantial expenses include aviation fuel costs, landing fees, airway fees and expenses on the purchase of aircraft spare parts and aircraft maintenance, etc. When the working capital is insufficient to settle the above-mentioned expenses, the Company usually settles the shortage by bank borrowings. After replenishment of working capital with the proceeds from the Subscriptions, the pressure on the working capital of the Company will be decreased. It is equivalent to reducing debt financing in the same amount, and thus reduces the financial costs.

The Subscriptions will also improve the financing capability of the Company. Improvement in the Company's financial position to a certain extent and enhancement of the Company's profitability will strengthen the Company's fund raising capability with banks and other financial institutions, and as a result, the Company will have more opportunities in raising funds with lower financial costs.

2.11 Implications under the Listing Rules

Since CEA Holding is the controlling shareholder of the Company, and hence a connected person of the Company, the issue of new A Shares to CEA Holding pursuant to the A Shares Subscription Agreement constitutes a connected transaction of the Company under Chapter 14A of the Listing Rules and is subject to reporting, announcement and independent shareholders' approval requirements under that Chapter. Also, since CES Finance is a wholly-owned subsidiary of CEA Holding, and hence a connected person of the Company, the issue of new A Shares to CES Finance pursuant to the A Shares Subscription Agreement constitutes a connected transaction of the Company under Chapter 14A of the Listing Rules and is subject to reporting, announcement and independent shareholders' approval requirements under that Chapter. Further, since CES Global is an indirectly wholly-owned subsidiary of CEA Holding, and hence a connected person of the Company, the issue of new H Shares to CES Global pursuant to the H Shares Subscription Agreement constitutes a connected transaction of the Company under Chapter 14A of the Listing Rules and is subject to reporting, announcement and independent shareholders' approval requirements under that Chapter. Thus, an Independent Board Committee comprising the independent non-executive Directors of the Company has been formed to advise the Independent Shareholders on the terms of the Subscriptions. An independent financial advisor has, in accordance with the Listing Rules, been appointed to advise the Independent Board Committee and the Independent Shareholders on the same.

The issue of new A Shares and new H Shares pursuant to the A Shares Subscription Agreement and the H Shares Subscription Agreement respectively will be conducted under the general mandate granted to the Board at the annual general meeting of the Company held on 28 June 2012 and subject to the approvals from the relevant regulatory

2. Reasons for and benefits of the Subscriptions

In the letter from the Board, the Directors have set out the backdrop why it is necessary for the Company to improve its capital structure, together with the benefits of the Subscriptions, particularly,

in 2011, the international aviation market was affected by the slow recovery of the global economy, the intensified political situation in certain regions and the natural disasters in Japan, which led to the downturn of international aviation services. Despite the above situations and a decrease in growth rate compared to 2010, market demand for a. domestic aviation services remained robust as a result of the stable PRC economy and continuous growth of domestic consumption. Currently, the Company is facing a series of adverse factors such as slowdown in growth of the industry, intensified market competition among its peers, fast development of high-speed railways and increased aviation fuel cost;

to cope with the challenging market environment, the Company has proactively adopted effective measures and strove to overcome difficulties by optimizing the replanning of flight routes and flight arrangements, fostering construction of its hub network and increasing the marketing network, enhancing its management capability and b. services quality, and actively improving on the Company's profit model. However, the Directors believe that there are constraints on the Company's operation and implementation of its future strategy due to its high debt to equity ratio and relatively large scale of absolute liabilities, which have adversely affected the Company's ability to enhance its risk-resistance capability;

c. the operating and financial condition of the Group is under enormous pressure. The continuous fluctuations in global financial markets make it difficult for the Company to obtain financial support in the short run; and

d. through the Subscriptions, the Directors believe that it will improve the financial position of the Company and in long term, enhance the Company's competitiveness and help to improve its operational position.

Letter from kim eng

In the letter from the Board, the Directors elaborated that the Subscriptions will also improve the financing capability of the Company. Improvement in the Company's financial position to a certain extent and enhancement of the Company's profitability will strengthen the Company's fund raising capability with banks and other financial institutions, and as a result, the Company will have more opportunities in raising fund with lower financial costs. The Directors also commented the Subscriptions would help improve the financial position and enhance the capital structure and in the long term, enhance the competitiveness and improve the operational position of the Group, which we concur with after taking into account the above backdrop, benefits and elaborations from the Directors.

In terms of the new A Shares, as shown in the table above, we note that the issue price for A shares of all the Comparable Companies was exactly or slightly higher than the 90% of average trading price of respective A shares during the 20 trading days period before the pricing base day. We also noted that the discount of the A Shares Subscriptions is within the range that the Comparable Companies have in their respective issuance of new A shares.

LETTER FROM KIM ENG

In terms of the new H Shares, we noted that the issue price for H shares of the Comparable Company represents a discount of 9.05%, 8.66% and 8.78% to its closing price, its average of the closing price of H share for the last five and ten trading days immediately prior to the date of the announcement on the issue of the H share, respectively, while the issue price for the new H Shares represents no discount, a discount of only 1.28% and 3.44% to its closing price, its average of the closing price of H Share for the last five and ten trading days immediately prior to the date of the announcement on the issue of the H Share, respectively.

7. Lock-up arrangements

The subscribers are subject to a 36-month lock-up arrangement for the selling of the new A Shares and new H Shares, as detailed in the letter from the Board. Accordingly, both A Shares and H Shares would not be subject to undue selling pressure caused by the disposal of A Shares and/or H Shares subscribed under the Subscriptions by the respective subscribers during such period. In terms of the lock-up arrangements, (i) the A Shares Subscription is in line with the A share issues of the Comparable Companies and the Company's previous subscriptions as detailed in the paragraph "Previous subscriptions" under the section headed "Principal Factors and Reasons Considered"; and (ii) the H Shares Subscription has a longer lock-up arrangement than the 3-month lock-up arrangement under the subscription by the subscribers of the Comparable Company.

8. Alternative means of financing

As advised by the Directors, apart from the Subscriptions, they have considered various funding alternatives, including debt financing and equity financing:

a. Debt financing

We are advised by the Directors that while the Company has no major difficulties in renewing and/or obtaining new bank loans. Given the issuance of 2012 First Tranche SCP, the Directors would prefer to enhance the capital base of the Company. In view of the current financial position of the Group, the Directors believe that obtaining equity financing, as compared to further borrowings or other bank financing, would strengthen the capital base, reduce the indebtedness (under the use of proceeds), and decrease the Group's gearing ratio as well as finance costs, which, in turn, would enhance the Group's future financing flexibility.

b. Equity financing

The Board considered equity financing such as rights issue or a placement to independent investors. Given (i) the difficulties in the operation environment in the aviation and airline services industry as discussed in the paragraph headed “Reasons for and benefits of the Subscriptions” above and (ii) the complexity to undertake a rights issue (including the time involved in obtaining the relevant approval to issue the rights shares), the Directors considered that these fund raising means present higher uncertainties and risks at the prevailing capital market environment, and no / little visibility on the timing to completion.

LETTER FROM KIM ENG

The Board is of the view that under the normal market practices, subscription prices of rights shares shall be set at a discount to the prevailing trading prices in order to attract its shareholders to subscribe the right shares. Therefore, rights issue of the A Shares and H Shares (the “Rights Issue”) with small discount for the subscription price would be less attractive to the Shareholders as compared with normal market practices resulting in higher completion risks.

Taking into consideration the factors that (i) a relatively speedy and certain financing method is preferred; (ii) the 36-month lock-up period which will have less selling pressure on the share price of the Company; and (iii) subscription by the controlling Shareholder demonstrates the recognition of the value of the Company and confidence in the Company which may help stabilize the share price of the Company, the Directors are of the opinion that the Subscriptions is a preferred means of fund raising for the Company at the prevailing operating environment and capital market condition.

We noted from the CSRC website that, (i) the equities funds raised in the PRC in 2011 was approximately RMB678 billion, a decrease of 34% when compared with approximately RMB1,028 billion in 2010; and (ii) the equities funds raised in the PRC for the first eight months of 2012 was approximately RMB399 billion, accounted for approximately 59% of the equities funds raised for 2011.

We also noted from the Stock Exchange website and fact book 2011 that, (i) the equities funds raised on the Stock Exchange in 2011 was approximately HK$490,386 million, a decrease of 43% when compared with approximately HK$858,725 million in 2010; and (ii) the equities funds raised on the Stock Exchange for the first eight months of 2012 was approximately HK$183,677 million, accounted for approximately 37% of the equities funds raised for 2011.

Taking into account the above, we concur with the Directors that the Subscriptions provide the Company with more certainty in terms of fund raising and is a preferred means of fund raising in light of the current operating environment and capital market condition.

9. Possible financial effects of the Subscriptions

As stated in the letter from the Board, the total proceeds of the Subscriptions will be approximately RMB3,622 million before deduction of expenses. After deduction of relevant expenses for the Subscriptions, the net proceeds from the Subscriptions are intended to be used to repay existing financial institution loans and the remaining balance (if any) will be used to supplement the working capital of the Company. As a result of completion of the

Subscriptions, the Directors expect the following financial effects on the Group's financial position will be arisen:

LETTER FROM KIM ENG

a. Effect on liquidity

Liquidity of the Group will be improved by the Subscriptions as a result of an infusion of approximately RMB3,622 million in cash on completion of the Subscriptions, which represents approximately 67.56% of the cash and cash equivalent, or 5.44% of Total Debt as at 30 June 2012. This infusion can be used to free up and strengthen the gearing capacity and/or replenish the working capital of the Group.

b. Effect on earnings

The Directors plan to apply the net proceeds to repay existing financial institution loans and/or to supplement the working capital of the Company. If loans are repaid, interest expense will fall accordingly until loans are redrawn. According to the management, in medium to long term, the Group would be in a better position to negotiate for better terms of financing and/or refinancing with the improvement of the capital base of the Company upon completion of the Subscriptions.

According to the Annual Report 2011 and Interim Report 2012, the Group incurred an interest expense of approximately RMB1,463 million and RMB847 million for the year ended 31 December 2011 and for the first six months ended 30 June 2012, respectively.

c. Effect on net assets

The net assets value of the Group would be increased as a result of the completion of the Subscriptions. The Subscriptions would post a positive impact to the Group's net asset base.

d. Effect on gearing

Based on the financial information as set out in the Interim Report 2012, (i) the Group's gearing ratio (being net debt over total equity) was 2.68; (ii) the ratio of total liabilities over total assets of the Company was 0.81; (iii) the Total Debt was approximately RMB66,579 million; and (iv) finance costs of the Company's total was RMB847 million, for the six months ended 30 June 2012.

According to the letter from the Board, with the repayment of the loans, the total liabilities of the Group would be decreased accordingly and hence the gearing ratio and the ratio of total liabilities over total assets of the Company would be lowered upon completion of the Subscriptions to approximately 2.18 and 0.78, respectively, assuming completion of the Subscriptions as at 30 June 2012.

e. Effect on current ratio

Based on the current assets and current liabilities as disclosed in Annual Report 2011 and Interim Report 2012, the current ratio, being current assets divided by current liabilities, of the Group as at 31 December 2011 and 30 June 2012 are 0.32 and 0.33, respectively. As at 30 June 2012, the Group's net current liabilities were approximately RMB32,888 million. With the receipt of the proceeds in cash, current assets of the Group would be increased accordingly and hence the current ratio would be improved upon the completion of the Subscriptions to approximately 0.40 assuming completion of the Subscriptions as at 30 June 2012.

LETTER FROM KIM ENG

f. Effect on net assets per Share

Under the Subscriptions, the new A Shares are to be issued at RMB3.28 per A Share and the new H Shares are to be issued at HK$2.32 per H Shares, representing a premium of 73.54% and 0.66% as compared to RMB1.89 of the unaudited net assets value per Share as at 30 June 2012 as derived from Interim Report 2012, respectively.

As the A Share Subscription and H Share Subscription are inter-conditional, the number of A Shares and H Shares to be issued under the Subscriptions are identical, their blended average price is still premium to the latest published net assets per Share as mentioned above. If completion were to take place on 30 June 2012, the Subscriptions would not create any material dilution effect to the then net assets per Share.

g. Effect on earnings per Share

Taking into account the positive effect on earnings and the dilution effect arising from share issuance, the Directors do not expect any material adverse impact on the earnings per Share as a result of the Subscriptions.

Based on the above, we concur with the Directors' view that the Subscriptions would demonstrate a positive impact on the above financial parameters of the Group, save for the immaterial dilution on earnings per Share.

10. Dilution effect on shareholding

We noted from the letter from the Board that the shareholding structure of the Company immediately prior to, and immediately after, completion of the Subscriptions, would be as follows:

Prior to the Subscriptions		Immediately after the Subscriptions
Number of shares	%	Number of shares	%

1. The percentage figures above have been rounded off to the nearest second decimal place.

2. The figures above are provided assuming that no other Shares will be issued or transferred after the Latest Practicable Date until the completion of the Subscriptions.

LETTER FROM KIM ENG

We also noted that for issuers on the Stock Exchange, a general mandate to allot an aggregate of no more than 20% of the existing issued share capital is generally granted to directors of a listed issuer at its general meeting. The issue of new A Shares and new H Shares under the Subscriptions, in aggregate represents 12.40% of the existing issued share capital of the Company as at the Latest Practicable Date.

Based on the foregoing, we concur with the Directors' view that the Subscriptions would not have any material dilution effect to the existing public shareholders and is acceptable.

RECOMMENDATION

Having considered the above principal reasons and factors as a whole, we concur with the Directors' view that the Subscriptions is on normal commercial terms, in the ordinary and usual course of business, and the terms of the Subscriptions are fair and reasonable and in the interests of the Company and Shareholders as a whole. Accordingly, we advise the Independent Board Committee to recommend the Independent Shareholders to vote in favor of the Subscriptions.

Yours faithfully,
For and on behalf of
Kim Eng Securities (Hong Kong) Limited
