2012 Business Highlights

Over the course of 2012, Check Point introduced new and innovative products focused on fighting cyber threats and making enterprises more secure including:

- Check Point ThreatCloud™ – The first collaborative network to fight cybercrime. ThreatCloud gathers attack data from thousands of gateways and sensors around the world and distributes the intelligence to participating security gateways. In the fourth quarter, the company continued to expand the ThreatCloud offering with the introduction of new managed security services.

Anti-Bot Software Blade – The Anti-bot software blades address one of the key cyber threats used by the most sophisticated attacks. Bots are malicious software agents that hide inside personal computers awaiting instructions from their remote operators. They are utilized to steal data and attack other computers as well as other malicious activities. The anti-bot software blades detect the bot presence on the network using a multi-dimensional approach and block their activity.

- New Appliance Product Line Transition – Over 90 percent of appliances sold during the fourth quarter were from the new appliance product line. Our 2012 Appliances models are optimized for Check Point’s Software Blade Architecture™ and deliver approximately three times the performance of previous generations.
- New Secure OS (GAiA) – GAiA is our new secure operating system that unifies the operations of the company’s new and existing appliances, integrating the functions and features of multiple product lines.
- Software Version R74.40 – New software version for the company’s core network security products. This version includes more than 100 new features, including the Anti-Bot Software Blade and an updated version of the company’s Anti-Virus Software Blades powered by Check Point ThreatCloud.
- Check Point Virtual Systems – New solution for private cloud environments and data centers that enables the consolidation of up to 250 security gateways on a single hardware platform.
- DDoS Protector™ Appliances – Check Point expanded into a new and critical security market segment. These new solutions combat a wide range of Distributed Denial of Service (DDoS) attacks and are integrated with the Check Point Security Management environment.
- Security Acceleration Module – The Security Acceleration Module with advanced SecurityCore™ technology enables customers in high-performance and low latency environments, such as financial trading floors, to significantly boost network performance by accelerating key security operations. Customers are able to achieve 110 Gbps of firewall throughput and sub-five micro second (5 μs) latency - enabling the industry's highest-performing two rack-unit firewall.

Industry Accolades & New Research:

Check Point continued to receive industry recognition and published a whitepaper on a new attack, including:

- Top Position in Worldwide Combined Firewall and UTM Appliance Market – Check Point is positioned as the number one vendor in worldwide combined Firewall and UTM appliance revenue for Q2 2012 according to the IDC Worldwide Q2 2012 Security Appliance Tracker.
- Leader in Gartner’s Magic Quadrant for Mobile Data Protection – Check Point is recognized as a leader for its ability to encrypt data and secure mobile endpoints.
- 2012 Frost & Sullivan Asia Pacific ICT Award – Named "Network Security Vendor of the Year." This is the third time that Check Point has received this prestigious distinction.
- MIS Asia Top 100, Singapore – Global Top 75 IT Vendors.
- IT Pro Editor’s Choice 2012 Hong Kong – Check Point DDoS Protector Appliance and Check Point Threat Prevention Gateway
- SMB World Awards 2012, Hong Kong – Check Point DDoS Protector Appliance
- New Eurograbber Attack – Check Point along with Versafe, uncovered a highly sophisticated attack, called Eurograbber, which was used to steal millions from corporate and private banking customers across Europe. The two companies published "A Case Study of Eurograbber: How 36 million euros was stolen via malware."

“During the year, we expanded the power of the Software Blades Architecture by introducing the Check Point ThreatCloud, the industry’s first collaborative network to fight cyber threats globally with thousands of gateways worldwide that contribute attack information into ThreatCloud. In 2013, we will continue to innovate and extend our leadership, focusing on threat prevention and mobile security,” said Gil Shwed, founder, chairman and chief executive officer at Check Point Software Technologies.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Information

In addition to reporting financial results in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, or GAAP, Check Point uses non-GAAP measures of net income, operating income, operating margin and earnings per share, which are adjustments from results based on GAAP to exclude non-cash equity-based compensation charges, amortization of acquired intangible assets, loss (gain) on sale of marketable securities previously impaired, and the related tax affects. Check Point's management believes the non-GAAP financial information provided in this release is useful to investors' understanding and assessment of Check Point's ongoing core operations and prospects for the future. Historically, Check Point has also publicly presented these supplemental non-GAAP financial measures in order to assist the investment community to see the Company "through the eyes of management," and thereby enhance understanding of its operating performance. The presentation of this non-GAAP financial information is not intended to be considered in isolation or as a substitute for results prepared in accordance with GAAP. A reconciliation of the non-GAAP financial measures discussed in this press release to the most directly comparable GAAP financial measures is included with the financial statements contained in this press release. Management uses both GAAP and non-GAAP information in evaluating and operating business internally and as such has determined that it is important to provide this information to investors.
