Key messages

Edgar Filing: BARCLAYS PLC - Form 425

Our strategy of pursuing higher profit growth by diversifying our earnings remains unchanged.

This strategy is delivering the Barclays of today is a global financial services company with 50 per cent of profit generated outside the UK.

Our first half performance in 2007 extends this trend, with profit up 12 per cent, earnings per share up 14 per cent and our dividend up 10 per cent.

The ground-breaking partnership with China Development Bank, one of the leading, government-sponsored, financial institutions in China, is a major development which provides a clear opportunity to accelerate Barclays global ambitions.

The 13.4bn proposed investment by China Development Bank and Temasek Holdings demonstrates tangible support for, and commitment to our strategy. It is also signals their confidence in the proposed ABN AMRO merger and the way in which it will deliver value.

We remain committed to the proposed merger with ABN AMRO and have constructed an improved offer. The revised offer introduces 25bn cash into the deal providing a flexible alternative for those ABN AMRO shareholders who prefer to take cash.

Dilution of investment for our existing shareholders will be minimised by a share buyback.

Talking points

1. Ground-breaking partnership with China Development Bank

Barclays has entered into an exclusive partnership with China Development Bank

This will give our business accelerated growth opportunities in China, where we are already active, through working with one of the leading government-sponsored financial institutions in China

The biggest opportunities are for our Investment Banking and Investment Management businesses in financing and risk management, commodities and asset management

China Development Bank has agreed not to enter into a business collaboration agreement of a similar nature with another major banking institution with global operations

While the impact of the new partnership with China Development Bank will be even more significant if the ABN AMRO proposed merger is completed, the partnership is not conditional on the larger deal

The strategic nature of the collaboration means that we will contribute expertise, products, training and talent management, while China Development Bank will provide unparalleled access to the Chinese market and to Chinese companies around the world

China Development Bank will also make a significant investment in Barclays.

2. New equity investment into Barclays of 13.4bn by China Development Bank and Temasek

China Development Bank will invest 9.8bn in Barclays for a shareholding of 6.3 per cent to 7.7 per cent 2.2bn will be invested now with a further 7.6bn conditional on the completion of the proposed merger with ABN AMRO

In addition, Temasek, the investment company owned by the government of Singapore and one of the most successful equity investors in the world, will invest 3.6bn for a shareholding of 2.4 per cent to 2.9 per cent. Temasek will invest 1.4bn now with a further 2.2bn on condition of the proposed merger with ABN AMRO

China Development Bank and Temasek will together commit up to 13.4bn

The partnerships with China Development Bank and Temasek will broaden our relationships in China and the rest of Asia enabling us to accelerate our strategy and unlock value for our shareholders

The partnerships demonstrate tangible support of, and commitment to, Barclays strategy

They are also a clear signal of the confidence that both China Development Bank and Temasek have in the proposed ABN AMRO merger and the way in which it will deliver incremental growth and incremental returns

Both investors have existing relationships with Barclays Capital and without these relationships the partnerships would not have been possible

Edgar Filing: BARCLAYS PLC - Form 425

There will be one Barclays Board seat for China Development Bank, and, if the merger becomes unconditional, Temasek will nominate one Director to the Barclays Board

We intend to initiate a share buyback of up to 3.6bn in order to minimise any possible dilution for existing shareholders. The earliest date the buyback would commence is shortly after the publication of Barclays Interim Results on 2 August.

3. Revised Terms of our offer for ABN AMRO

While we continue to successfully execute our strategy and deliver strong returns to our shareholders, the merger with ABN AMRO will generate higher growth, and higher returns, than would be achieved on a stand-alone basis

For this reason we remain committed to the merger and have constructed a new offer, while ensuring we maintain financial discipline

The new offer introduces a total cash contribution of 24.8bn into the deal

This will provide a flexible alternative for those ABN AMRO shareholders who do not want to take equity

The 24.8bn is being funded from three sources: the investment by China Development Bank and Temasek, the proceeds from the LaSalle sale and cash from Barclays existing resources.

4. Strong first half earnings

Accompanying today's announcements we have issued a trading statement on our performance in the first six months of the year

Profits are up 12%, earning per share is up 14% and our dividend is up 10%

Barclays Capital has delivered very strong performance with profit up over 30%, generated by two consecutive record quarters

Both UK Retail Banking and UK Business Banking profits are up 9% and we are on track to deliver on our commitment of a further 2% cost:income ratio improvement in 2007

Our strong first half clearly demonstrates that the strategy Barclays continues to pursue is delivering for our shareholders. It also shows that we have kept our eyes firmly on managing the operating performance of our business.
