Note: The following are posts made on AMR Corporation's intranet site on March 5, 2013.

1. What is the dress code for American's people traveling on US Airways?
US dress code can be found at www.flyzed.info/us.

2. For travel on US Airways, will American employees be boarded by seniority or check-in time after following US Airways employees?
American employees will be boarded by check-in time after US employees.

3. What is the bag fee policy for American's employees traveling on US Airways using the Interim Reciprocal Travel Program?
American employees traveling on US are permitted one free checked bag per person.

4. Can employees with less than six months of employment with American participate in the Interim Reciprocal Travel Program?
As is the case with all of our interline travel agreements, employees must have completed six months of continuous service with AA (or US) to be eligible for interline travel.

5. Will we pay for the non-rev fee upfront when we're traveling using the Interim Reciprocal Travel Program?
Tickets will be issued by American for travel on US just like any of other of our interline travel agreements, however, the fares will be lower than routine ZED fares. The price of the ticket (fare, taxes, fees) will be paid at the time of ticketing.

6. Will an American employee traveling on US Airways pay a ZED fare to fly coach?
The fare agreed to between AA and US is not a ZED fare but a zonal fare similar to ZED. ZED has three fare levels: Low, Medium, and High. The fares agreed for the interim travel program are lower than ZED Low.

7. Are the four interim allotment tickets in addition to our annual American pass bank?

Yes, the four allotment tickets on US are in addition to the AA Pass Bank.

8. What about Employee Discounted Fares?(AA20)

The interim travel program does not change the current AA20 privilege. You will continue to have access to unlimited AA20 tickets for travel on AA/American Eagle for you and your eligible travelers just as you do today.

9. Are there any plans to review the policy regarding NRSA charges for employees who are with the company less than 5 years?

It is too soon to say what the long-term travel program will be, as we have a lot of work ahead of us to combine the programs once the merger closes. For now, our current travel program continues unchanged, which includes NRSA charges.

10. What is the max pay for reservations representatives at US Airways? What about incentive pay?

Current max pay for reservations representatives at US Airways is $21.14 versus American's max rate of $21.97. Regarding incentives, that is fairly complex and we will have more specific information available as the merger progresses.

11. What are the plans for the four flight attendant bases in Latin America?

It is too soon to know.

12. What is the text at the bottom of each document?

As we move through the process of combining our airlines, you will see this legend a lot. It is simply legally-required statements that provide general information about the purpose of the communication, the companies, the proposed merger, and where to look for additional information about US Airways and American.

Additional Information and Where To Find It

This communication does not constitute an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy any securities or a solicitation of any vote or approval.
