The following information has been made available by Pfizer Inc. to its UK colleagues on April 28, 2014:

Pfizer/AstraZeneca: Message from UKMF to UK colleagues

You will have seen Ian Read's note this morning informing colleagues of our approach to AstraZeneca regarding a possible merger transaction. As Ian notes, any potential transaction would be structured so that the combined company would be incorporated in the UK, with management in both the US and the UK. We would also encourage you to watch Ian's video if you haven't already viewed it, click here.

Over the course of today, Ian has held a media briefing for key UK national media, and we anticipate significant coverage today and over the coming days. Jon Emms and other senior leaders have spoken with key external stakeholders, including Government and policy makers.

As Ian has indicated, there is no guarantee that AstraZeneca will agree to engage in any discussions or that this will lead to an offer. As the process evolves, senior leaders have committed to be as transparent as possible and we will share information with you as and when we are able.

In the meantime, it is very much business as usual and it is important that each and every one of us remains focused on delivering on our commitments.

Please remember, you should not be discussing this issue proactively with your stakeholders. If you are approached by the media, refer any questions or requests for comments to the Press Office on 0845 300 8033.

Forward-Looking Statements

This document contains certain forward-looking statements with respect to the financial condition, results of operations and business of Pfizer and the combined businesses of AstraZeneca and Pfizer and certain plans and objectives of Pfizer with respect thereto, including the expected benefits of a potential combination as well as whether a potential combination will be pursued. These forward-looking statements can be identified by the fact that they do not relate only to historical or current facts. Forward-looking statements often use future dates or words such as anticipate, target, expect, estimate, intend, plan, goal, believe, hope, aim, continue, will, or other words of similar meaning or the negative thereof. There are several factors which could cause actual plans and results to differ materially from those expressed or implied in forward-looking statements. Such factors include, but are not limited to, the possibility that a possible offer will not be pursued or will be pursued on different terms and conditions, failure to obtain necessary regulatory approvals or any required financing or to satisfy any of the other conditions to a possible combination, adverse effects on the market price of Pfizer's common stock and on Pfizer's operating results because of a failure to complete the possible combination, failure to realize the expected benefits of the possible combination, negative effects of the announcement or the consummation of the possible combination on the market price of Pfizer's common stock, significant transaction costs and/or unknown liabilities, general economic and business conditions that affect the combined companies following a possible combination, changes in global, political, economic, business, competitive, market and regulatory forces, future exchange and interest rates, changes in tax laws, regulations, rates and policies, future business combinations or disposals and competitive developments. These forward-looking statements are based on numerous assumptions and assessments made by Pfizer in light of its experience and perception of historical trends, current conditions, business strategies, operating environment, future developments and other factors it believes appropriate. By their nature, forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks and uncertainties because they relate to events and depend on circumstances that will occur in the future. The factors described in the context of such forward-looking statements in this document could cause Pfizer's plans with respect to AstraZeneca, actual results, performance or achievements, industry results and developments to differ materially from those expressed in or implied by such forward-looking statements. Although it is believed that the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are reasonable, no assurance can be given that such expectations will prove to have been correct and persons reading this document are therefore cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements which speak only as at the date of this document. Pfizer assumes no obligation to update or revise the information contained in this document (whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise), except as required by applicable law. A further list and description of risks and uncertainties can be found in Pfizer's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended 31, December 2013 and in its subsequent reports on Form 10-Q and Form 8-K, the contents of which are not incorporated by reference into, nor do they form part of, this document.
