All,

Over the course of the last several months, I have been working with many of our leaders regarding our plans going forward. Through the work with my cross-functional team, I have made some organizational decisions that will enable us to advance our growth, improve the operational efficiency of the business and position us well for the future. Though I plan to name my entire leadership team in conjunction with the Medtronic leadership appointments to be announced in mid-November, I am pleased to announce important organizational decisions that have been made in support of our strategic agenda.

Steve Blazjewski will become Senior Vice President and President of Medical Supplies, Respiratory & Monitoring Solutions and Venous Solutions, based in Mansfield, Massachusetts. Steve has been with the company for nearly 20 years, holding a number of sales, marketing and management positions, including his current role as President of GSP. Chris Barry will become Senior Vice President and President of the Surgical businesses Advanced Surgical Technologies (AST) and General Surgical Products (GSP). He will be based in Boulder, Colorado. Chris has been with the company for nearly 16 years and has also held various sales and marketing leadership positions, currently serving as President of AST. Both will be responsible for worldwide strategy and portfolio management and will direct the U.S. commercial groups.

Many of you have had the opportunity to work with Steve and Chris over the years and know that they are passionately focused on our customers and patients, and have strong track records for building successful businesses and leading winning teams. I know their experience and background will be a great asset to our organization as they move into their new leadership positions.

Steve and Chris will continue to report to me and these roles will become effective upon close of the transaction. They will begin working with the current leaders on transition plans immediately, including the structure and leadership teams for the new organizations. Over the coming weeks, they will share future plans for their organizations.

As mentioned, I will announce the remaining Covidien group leadership team, including the regions, in the coming weeks. I ask that you be patient with the process and remain focused on our customers, patients and business. As always, let's ensure we deliver on our commitments in the first quarter and full year FY15.

Importantly, since I have assumed my new role on October 1, I wanted to express to all of you how honored I am to be in this position and leading this great business. As I travel around the world and meet with our people, I am impressed with the contributions that each of you make to our customers and patients. Many thanks for your commitment and support of our business.

Please join me in congratulating both Steve and Chris on their new roles.

Best,

Bryan Hanson

Group President, Covidien
