Item 8.01 Other Events.

As previously disclosed in the Definitive Proxy Statement on Schedule 14A filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") by Medtronic, Inc. ("Medtronic") on November 21, 2014 (the "definitive proxy statement"), a putative shareholder class action complaint was filed on July 2, 2014, in the District Court, Fourth Judicial District, of Hennepin County, Minnesota (the "State Court"), by a purported shareholder of Medtronic under the caption Merenstein v. Medtronic, Inc., et al., 27-CV-14-11452, and on August 21, 2014, a putative shareholder class action complaint was filed in that same court by a purported shareholder of Medtronic under the caption Steiner v. Richard H. Anderson, et al., 27-CV-14-14420, which actions were later consolidated together with all cases subsequently filed or transferred into State Court into a single action under the caption In re Medtronic, Inc. Stockholder Litigation, 27-CV-14-11452. On September 30, 2014, the plaintiffs in the consolidated action filed a consolidated amended class action complaint challenging certain transactions to be taken by Medtronic in connection with the proposed acquisition of Covidien plc ("Covidien") by Medtronic, and on October 10, 2014, the defendants moved to dismiss such complaint.

On December 5, 2014, the plaintiffs in the consolidated State Court action filed a motion for a preliminary injunction seeking to, among other things, enjoin the defendants from effectuating the acquisition in the absence of additional disclosure prior to the Medtronic shareholder vote. On December 30, 2014, a hearing was held in the State Court on plaintiffs' motion for preliminary injunction and on defendants' motion to dismiss. On January 2, 2015, the State Court denied the plaintiffs' motion for preliminary injunction and on January 5, 2015 issued its opinion.

Also as previously disclosed in the definitive proxy statement, on September 19, 2014, a shareholder derivative action was filed in the United States District Court for the District of Minnesota (the "Federal Court"), by a purported shareholder of Medtronic under the caption William A. Houston v. Omar Ishrak, et al., 14-cv-03540, and on October 3, 2014, a shareholder derivative action was filed in that same court by a purported shareholder of Medtronic, captioned Clark v. Omar Ishrak, et al., 14-cv-04142. The complaints assert various causes of action under Minnesota law, including that the individual defendants allegedly breached fiduciary duties in providing for excise tax reimbursements to certain individuals who were and/or are directors and executive officers of Medtronic in connection with the acquisition. By an Order dated October 14, 2014 the Federal Court consolidated these actions.

On October 23, 2014, the plaintiffs in the consolidated Federal Court action filed a motion for a preliminary injunction seeking to enjoin the reimbursement payment in respect of the excise tax. On December 16, 2014, a hearing was held in the Federal Court on plaintiffs' motion for preliminary injunction and on December 22, 2014, the Federal Court denied the motion.

These factors include, among others, the inherent uncertainty associated with financial projections; restructuring in connection with, and successful close of, the Covidien acquisition; subsequent integration of the Covidien acquisition and the ability to recognize the anticipated synergies and benefits of the Covidien acquisition; the risk that the required regulatory approvals for the proposed transactions are not obtained, are delayed or are subject to conditions that are not anticipated; the anticipated size of the markets and continued demand for Medtronic's and Covidien's products; the impact of competitive products and pricing; access to available financing (including financing for the acquisition or refinancing of Medtronic or Covidien debt) on a timely basis and on reasonable terms; the risks of fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates; the risks and uncertainties normally incident to the medical device industry, including competition in the medical device industry; product liability claims; the difficulty of predicting the timing or outcome of pending or future litigation or government investigations; variability of trade buying patterns; the timing and success of product launches; the difficulty of predicting the timing or outcome of product development efforts and regulatory agency approvals or actions, if any; potential for adverse pricing movement; costs and efforts to defend or enforce intellectual property rights; difficulties or delays in manufacturing; reduction or interruption in supply; product quality problems; the availability and pricing of third-party sourced products and materials; risks associated with self-insurance and commercial insurance; successful compliance with governmental regulations applicable to New Medtronic s, Medtronic s and Covidien s facilities, products and/or businesses; changes in the laws and regulations, affecting among other things, pricing and reimbursement of pharmaceutical products; health care policy changes; risks associated with international operations; changes in tax laws or interpretations that could increase New Medtronic s, Medtronic s and/or Covidien s consolidated tax liabilities, including, if the transaction is consummated, changes in tax laws that would result in New Medtronic being treated as a domestic corporation for United States federal tax purposes; the loss of key senior management or scientific staff; and such other risks and uncertainties detailed in Medtronic s periodic public filings with the SEC, including but not limited to Medtronic s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended April 25, 2014, in Covidien s periodic public filings with the SEC, including but not limited to Covidien s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended September 26, 2014, and from time to time in Medtronic s and Covidien s other investor communications.
