Item 8.01 Other Events.

As previously disclosed, Westinghouse Solar, Inc. (“Westinghouse” or “the Company”) has been involved in various patent litigation with Zep Solar, Inc. (“Zep”) and other parties, including (1) an action we filed on October 22, 2009 against Zep and several other defendants in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, San Francisco Division for infringement of U.S. Patent No. 7,406,800 (the “’800 District Court Action”), (2) an action Zep and Trina Solar filed on August 2, 2011 against us in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, San Francisco Division for declaratory judgment of non-infringement of U.S. Patent No. 7,987,641 issued to our subsidiary Andalay Solar on August 2, 2011 (the “’641 District Court Action”), (3) an action we filed with the United States International Trade Commission (“ITC”) on October 4, 2011 accusing Zep and Canadian Solar of infringing the ’800 patent and the ’641 patent (the “ITC Action”), and (4) an action Zep filed against us and other defendants in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, San Francisco Division alleging that the our products infringe U.S. Patent No. 7,952,537 (the “’537 District Court Action”).

On May 25, 2012, Zep and Westinghouse entered into a final and comprehensive settlement of their legal disputes, resulting in the expected dismissal of the ITC Action and all three actions pending in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California. The specific terms of the global settlement are confidential. The settlement extends to all customers, suppliers, licensees and business partners of both Zep and Westinghouse who were named in one or more of the proceedings.
