NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

SIX MONTHS ENDED AUGUST 31, 2001

(Dollars in thousands, except per share amounts)

(Unaudited)

FINANCIAL STATEMENTS:

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of A.G. Edwards, Inc., and its wholly owned subsidiaries (collectively referred to as the "Company"), including its principal subsidiary, A.G. Edwards & Sons, Inc. ("Edwards"), and are prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended February 28, 2001. All adjustments that, in the opinion of management, are necessary for a fair presentation of the results of operations for the interim periods have been reflected. All such adjustments consist of normal recurring accruals unless otherwise disclosed in these interim consolidated financial statements. The results of operations for the six months ended August 31, 2001, are not necessarily indicative of the results for the year ending February 28, 2002. Prior periods' financial information has been reclassified to conform with the current-period presentation.

STOCKHOLDERS' EQUITY:

Under the Company's February 2001 stock repurchase program, the Company purchased 1,068,400 shares at an aggregate cost of $43,107 during the six month period ended August 31, 2001. For the six month period ended August 31, 2000, the Company purchased 6,809,500 shares under its May 1996 stock repurchase program, which expired late in fiscal 2001, at an aggregate cost of $266,756.

Comprehensive earnings for the six month periods ended August 31, 2001 and 2000 were equal to the Company's net earnings.

NET CAPITAL REQUIREMENTS:

Edwards is subject to the net capital rule administered by the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). This rule requires Edwards to maintain a minimum net capital, as defined, and to notify and sometimes obtain the approval of the SEC and other regulatory organizations for substantial withdrawals of capital and loans to affiliates. As of August 31, 2001, Edwards' net capital of $780,200 was $726,418 in excess of the minimum requirement.

RECENT ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS:

In July 2001, the Financial Accounting Standards Board released SFAS No. 141, "Business Combinations" and SFAS No. 142, "Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets." SFAS No. 141 requires all business combinations initiated after June 30, 2001, to be accounted for using the purchase method. Under SFAS No. 142, intangible assets with indefinite lives and goodwill will no longer be amortized. Instead, these assets are required to be tested at least annually for impairment. The adoption of these standards are not expected to have a material impact on the Company.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS:

The Company receives collateral in connection with resale agreements, securities borrowed transactions, customer margin loans and other loans. Under many agreements, the Company is permitted to sell or repledge these securities held as collateral and use these securities to enter into securities lending arrangements or deliver to counterparties to cover short positions. At August 31, 2001, the fair value of securities received as collateral where the Company is permitted to sell or repledge the securities was $3,707,299 and the fair value of the collateral that had been sold or repledged was $1,080,348.

SUBSEQUENT EVENT:

Subsequent to the end of the Company's second quarter, the value of securities collateralizing a $37 million margin loan in a client's account declined significantly, leaving the loan partially unsecured. The Company is evaluating its options concerning this account and, given the current circumstances and the volatility of the collateral, has not made an estimate as to its collectibility. This matter, or any related reserve, is not expected to have a material effect on the Company's consolidated financial condition, however, its effect could be material to the consolidated results of operations for the third quarter or future periods until ultimately resolved. The impact of any loss on net earnings and earnings per share will be significantly reduced by its effect on income taxes and the Company's incentive compensation plans.

MANAGEMENT'S FINANCIAL DISCUSSION

SIX MONTHS ENDED AUGUST, 31, 2001 COMPARED

TO SIX MONTHS ENDED AUGUST 31, 2000

General Business Environment

The six months ended August 31, 2001 produced net revenues and net earnings that continued to reflect difficult and volatile market conditions, and reduced retail investor participation in the markets. The Dow Jones Industrial Average began the period at 10,495, and ended the period, in a choppy market, at 9,950, a decrease of 5%. The Nasdaq Composite Index began the period at 2,152, and ended the period at 1,805, a decrease of 16%. The greatest influence on the markets continued to be a concern over the economy. The Federal Reserve Board reduced their target rate from 5.5% to 3.5% through five rate decreases since March 1, 2001. Despite market uncertainty, investor activity was high as overall trading volumes on the New York Stock Exchange and the Nasdaq increased 14% and 15%, respectively. However, this activity did not extend to the Company's retail-based clients. The Company's total trades, including those in fee-based accounts, decreased 16%, while trades in commission-based accounts decreased 28%. The number of clients choosing fee-based alternatives instead of the traditional commission-based trading account continued to increase. The number of branches increased 16 to 701 and the number of financial consultants increased 363 to 7,221 over the same period last year.

Subsequent to the end of the Company's second quarter, terrorist attacks on September 11, 2001 led to the closing of the domestic financial markets. Upon the markets reopening, the popular averages dropped dramatically reflecting investors' fear and concern over the impact that these events will ultimately have on the economy. The full effects of these events on the Company, the industry and the economy are unknown at this time.

Results of Operations

Net revenues decreased $264 million (18%) to $1.2 billion from $1.5 billion. Non-interest expenses were $1.1 billion, a decrease of $104 million (9%). Net earnings fell 53% and profit margins were 7.2% compared to 12.6% in the same period last year.

Total commission revenues decreased $249 million (34%). Commissions from listed transactions decreased $73 million (26%), over-the-counter commissions fell $119 million (66%) and commissions from the sales of mutual funds declined $60 million (35%). These declines reflect the decrease in client activity following the high level of activity in the same period last year. Many of the Company's clients have opted out of the equity markets in favor of debt products or money market funds. As a partial offset, insurance commissions increased $3 million reflecting continued demand for variable annuities.

Principal transaction revenues increased $10 million (7%), primarily due to a $38 million (43%) increase in revenues from the sale of debt products. This was offset by a $27 million (42%) decline in revenue from equity transactions. Many investors were attracted to the debt markets due to the continued volatility in the equity markets.

Investment banking revenues increased $33 million (35%). Revenues from fixed income products increased $20 million (95%) and revenues from the sale of equity products decreased $8 million (13%) as investors have moved to fixed income products due to the volatility in the equity markets. In addition, lower interest rates enticed issuers to refund outstanding debt. Management fees increased $22 million (157%) as the Company engaged in more transactions this year over the prior year as well as experienced an increase in merger and acquisition activities and consulting arrangements.

Interest revenue net of interest expense decreased $49 million (36%) due to a 31% decline in average client margin balances and a decrease in average interest rates charged on these margin balances. This was partially offset by a related decrease in average bank loans and securities lending activities used to finance client borrowings.

Other revenues decreased $15 million (74%) primarily due to the impact of the markets on venture capital and other investments.

Compensation and benefits decreased $142 million (15%). Commission expense and incentive-related compensation declined a combined $171 million (26%) following decreased commissionable revenue and earnings. General and administrative salaries and related benefits increased $29 million (10%) as a result of general increases and higher employment.

Communication and technology expenses increased $30 million (28%) as a result of infrastructure upgrades, and costs associated with the development, operation and maintenance of a new financial consultant workstation, which began to be deployed in the second quarter of last year.

All other non-interest expenses increased a combined $9 million (7%) primarily as a result of increased occupancy costs.

The Company's effective income tax rate decreased to 35.1% from 37.2% for the same period last year. This reduction is due mainly to a decrease in the Company's state income tax rate, various tax credits and an increase in municipal interest income relative to decreased net earnings.

THREE MONTHS ENDED AUGUST 31, 2001 COMPARED TO THREE MONTHS ENDED AUGUST 31, 2000

Net earnings for the quarter ended August 31, 2001 were $41 million on net revenues of $597 million compared to net earnings of $77 million on net revenues of $680 million for the same period last year. The explanation for revenue and expense fluctuations presented for the six month period are generally applicable to the three months of operations.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

The principal sources for financing the Company's business are stockholders' equity, short-term bank loans and securities lending activities. The Company believes it has adequate sources of credit available, if needed, to finance client activities, branch and headquarters expansion, stock repurchases and other capital expenditures.

The Company is expanding its headquarters with an additional office building, learning center and parking garage. The total construction cost of these projects is estimated to be $215 million. Total expenditures for construction through August 31, 2001 were $69 million.

RISK MANAGEMENT

No material changes have occurred related to the Company's policies, procedures, controls or risk profile.

FORWARD LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Management's Financial Discussion contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of federal securities laws. Actual results are subject to risks and uncertainties, including both those specific to the Company and those to the industry, which could cause results to differ from those contemplated. The risks include, but are not limited to, general economic conditions, the actions of competitors, regulatory actions, changes in legislation, risk management, technology changes and estimates of capital expenditures. Undue reliance should not be placed on the forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date of this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q. The Company does not undertake any obligation to publicly update any forward-looking statements.
