Sidebar text: WE THINK THAT MUNICIPAL BOND INVESTMENTS LIKE YOUR NUVEEN FUND CAN BE IMPORTANT BUILDING BLOCKS IN A WELL-BALANCED PORTFOLIO.

Dear
SHAREHOLDER

I am very pleased to report that for the fiscal year ended May 31, 2004, your Nuveen Fund continued to provide you with attractive monthly tax-free income.

While tax-free income is always welcome, we know that many shareholders are beginning to wonder whether interest rates will rise significantly, and whether that possibility should cause them to adjust that portion of their investment portfolios allocated to tax-free municipal bonds. We believe this is a question you should consider carefully with the help of a trusted financial advisor. In many cases, it may be more appropriate to focus on long-term goals and objectives rather than shorter-term market movements, and this is where a professional advisor may be able to help keep you focused on the larger objectives of your investment program.

As you read through this report, please review the inside front cover and consider receiving future Fund reports and other Fund information by e-mail and the Internet. Not only will you be able to receive the information faster, but this also may help lower your Fund's expenses. Sign up is quick and easy.

Since 1898, Nuveen Investments has offered financial products and solutions that incorporate careful research, diversification and the application of conservative risk-management principles. We are grateful that you have chosen us as a partner as you pursue your financial goals. We look forward to continuing to earn your trust in the months and years ahead.

WHAT FACTORS AFFECTED THE U.S. ECONOMY AND MUNICIPAL MARKET DURING THE 12-MONTH

Edgar Filing: NUVEEN CONNECTICUT DIVIDEND ADVANTAGE MUNICIPAL FUND - Form N-CSR/A

REPORTING PERIOD ENDED MAY 31, 2004?

During this reporting period, the U.S. economy demonstrated growing evidence of improvement in such key areas as employment, capital spending and industrial production. Indeed, during the third quarter of last year, the U.S. gross domestic product grew at an annualized rate of 8.2%, more than double the second quarter's performance and the fastest annualized quarterly growth rate in nearly 20 years. Although this rapid pace was not considered sustainable, the economy continued to turn in steady performance for the rest of the 12-month reporting period, expanding by an annualized 4.1% in the fourth quarter of 2003 and an annualized 3.9% in the first three months of 2004.

Inflation also showed some signs of acceleration, driven mainly by higher energy and transportation costs, with the Consumer Price Index rising at a 5.1% rate (annualized) during the first five months of 2004. The combination of economic momentum and growing inflation concerns served as a catalyst for heightened volatility in the fixed-income markets. Although short-term interest rates remained at or near historical lows throughout this 12-month period, the long-term bond markets, including the municipal market, were increasingly driven by expectations that the Federal Reserve would move to increase interest rates and by speculation over the timing and extent of those increases. As one example, the yield on the Bond Buyer 25 Revenue Bond Index, a widely followed municipal bond index, rose from 4.83% at the beginning of the period to 5.50% by the middle of August 2003. The index yield then fell steadily over the next seven months to reach 4.73% by the middle of March 2004, before rising to 5.36% by the end of the reporting period.

In general, municipal supply nationwide remained strong over the 12-month reporting period, with $384.8 billion in new bonds coming to market. This represented an increase of 2% over the preceding 12-month period. However, the pace of issuance slowed toward the end, with $147.8 billion in new municipal supply during the first five months of 2004, down 6% from January-May 2003. In May 2004 alone, volume decreased 9% from one year earlier.

HOW ABOUT ECONOMIC AND MARKET CONDITIONS IN CONNECTICUT, MASSACHUSETTS AND MISSOURI?

Connecticut's economy continued its struggle toward recovery during the period, hampered by weakness in the manufacturing sector and the relatively high cost of doing business in the state. Although Connecticut's per capita income was the highest in the nation, its state government also had the highest per capita debt, which has acted to constrain growth. However, Connecticut remains economically diverse, and the job picture continued to improve, with a May 2004 unemployment rate of 4.6%, down from 5.4% in May 2003 and below the national rate of 5.6%. Current estimates call for Connecticut to end fiscal 2004 with a budget surplus of between $50 million and $100 million. It is expected that these funds will be deposited into the rainy day fund, which was depleted during 2003's budget crisis. In July 2003, Moody's downgraded the state's debt to Aa3 from Aa2, citing Connecticut's fiscal difficulties, high debt levels and underfunded pension plans. On the other hand, in September 2003, Standard & Poor's maintained its AA rating on the state's debt and changed its outlook to stable from negative because of the corrective actions taken to address fiscal problems. During the 12-month reporting period ended May 2004, Connecticut issued $6.4 billion in new municipal bonds, an increase of 12% over the previous 12-month period.

Like Connecticut, Massachusetts continued to grapple with a sluggish economy, budget problems and a high debt burden. While the commonwealth's manufacturing sector continued to shed jobs, overall job losses abated during this reporting period. Massachusetts seemed positioned to benefit from increased federal defense spending and emerging signs of recovery in its healthcare, education, financial services and technology sectors. As of May 2004, Massachusetts unemployment was 5.2%, down from 5.8% a year earlier. In March 2004, Moody's reconfirmed its rating of Massachusetts' debt at Aa2 with a negative outlook, citing the ongoing budgetary pressures in the commonwealth. In the same month, S&P also affirmed its rating of AA- with a stable outlook. Massachusetts new municipal bond issuance during the 12 months ended May 2004 totaled $11.5 billion, down 15% from the previous 12 months.

Missouri's economy also remained weak, especially in terms of job creation, after a deep manufacturing-led recession over the past two years. However, the state's financial operations continued to be well managed, and debt ratios were below average. Tax revenues in fiscal 2004 increased over the prior year, and the state's budget reserve fund was expected to be fully funded by the end of the current fiscal period. Missouri continued to feature a large and industrially diverse economy, including construction, wholesale trade, transportation, communications and utilities, which positioned the state to benefit as the U.S. economy strengthens. The biotech/life sciences industry has also emerged as a potential growth driver in the state. While any rebound in manufacturing is not expected to create many jobs, the employment scenario has become more positive with the end of deep layoffs, as reflected in the May 2004 unemployment rate of 5.1%, compared with 5.8% in May 2003. Municipal new issue supply in Missouri for the 12-month period ended May 2004 was $5.8 billion, down 9% compared with the prior 12 months. As of May 2004, Missouri's general obligation debt retained its rating of Aaa/AAA with stable outlooks from Moody's and Standard & Poor's, respectively.

IN THIS ENVIRONMENT, WHAT KEY STRATEGIES WERE USED TO MANAGE THESE FUNDS DURING THE 12 MONTHS ENDED MAY 31, 2004?

As the market continued to anticipate rising interest rates, our major focus during this reporting period remained on trying to mitigate some of the interest rate risk inherent in each Fund's portfolio. Interest rate risk is the risk that the value of a Fund's portfolio will decline if market interest rates rise (since bond prices move in the opposite direction of interest rates). Since longer-term bonds often carry more interest rate risk than intermediate-term or short-term bonds, we concentrated on finding attractive securities with defensive structures in the long- intermediate part of the yield curve (i.e., bonds that mature in 15 to 20 years). In many cases, bonds in this part of the curve offered yields similar to those of longer-term bonds with less inherent interest rate risk and greater total return potential.

The combination of tighter supply and lower yields over most of this period meant that the new issue market did not offer many uninsured bonds that we thought would perform better than those we already owned in our portfolios. At the same time, the supply of insured bonds was more plentiful, allowing us to adjust NGX's portfolio in ways that we thought would better position the Fund going forward.

When we did find attractive bonds, especially for the Connecticut and uninsured Massachusetts Funds, we sought to diversify the Funds' holdings with purchases of higher-rated general obligation bonds and other tax-backed securities. In addition, some of the Funds made purchases in the healthcare sector, where improvements in cost containment and reimbursement practices have helped the sector's long-term outlook. Some of these additions were financed through the sale of bonds with longer maturities or with proceeds from bond calls, while in other cases we sold bonds that had become advanced refunded but were not yet called.

For NGX, our efforts during the first half of this period also focused largely on enhancing diversification as an additional way of reducing risk following the Fund's initial investing period. As part of this, we decreased our allocation of tax-backed securities, healthcare and multifamily housing, and added to our holdings in the education and water and sewer sectors. We also worked to enhance and support NGX's income stream by adding longer bonds priced near par to the Fund's portfolio.

NOM had a significant holding of AAA/U.S. Guaranteed rated bonds at the beginning of this period, and we sought more diversity by looking for lower-rated investment-grade securities. Among the higher credit quality bonds we sold were a number of prerefunded and escrowed bonds. The proceeds from these bonds were reallocated to limited tax obligation and healthcare bonds.

For additional information, see the individual Performance Overview for your Fund in this report.

For the 12 months ended May 31, 2004, the total returns on net asset value (NAV) for all seven of the uninsured Funds in this report underperformed the return on the Lehman Brothers Municipal Bond Index. NGX, an insured Fund, trailed the Lehman Brothers Insured Municipal Bond Index. NTC, NFC and NMT outperformed the Lipper Other States peer group, while NMB and NOM performed in line with this Lipper average. NGK, NGO, and NGX underperformed the Lipper group average.

One of the primary factors affecting the 12-month performance of each of these Funds compared with that of the unleveraged Lehman index was the Funds' use of leverage. Leveraging can provide opportunities for additional income and total return for common shareholders, but it is a strategy that adds volatility to the Funds' NAVs and share prices, especially when interest rates move significantly. While each of these Funds was able to generate additional income over this period through the use of leverage, rising interest rates caused larger declines in each Fund's NAV than would have been the case had the Fund not used leverage. This had a direct and negative effect on total returns over this period.

On the positive side, the Funds' performances were helped by their holdings of lower-rated investment-grade quality bonds, which outperformed higher-rated bonds as the economy improved and investors' risk tolerance increased. For example, despite its relatively high concentration of AAA rated bonds, NOM benefited from having 3% of its portfolio in Baa2 rated bonds issued for Maryville University of St. Louis. In the other uninsured Funds, allocations of BBB rated bonds as of May 31, 2004, ranged from 14% in NFC to 13% in NMB, 10% in NGO, 9% in NTC, 8% in NGK and NMT, and 7% in NOM. Although NGX is an insured Fund, it is allowed to invest up to 20% of its portfolio in uninsured investment-grade securities. This Fund had 1% of its portfolio in BBB rated bonds as of May 31, 2004.

Several Funds also benefited from their callable bond holdings in the housing sector, especially

- 1 The Lehman Brothers Municipal Bond Index is an unleveraged, unmanaged national index comprising a broad range of investment-grade municipal bonds, while the Lehman Brothers Insured Municipal Bond Index is an unleveraged, unmanaged national index consisting of a broad range of insured municipal bonds. Results for the Lehman indexes do not reflect any expenses.
- 2 The Lipper Other States Municipal Debt Funds category average is calculated using the returns of all closed-end exchange-traded funds in this category for each period as follows: 1 year, (44 funds); 5 years, (19 funds); and 10 years, (17 funds). Fund and Lipper returns assume reinvestment of dividends.

multifamily housing. While call exposure is a factor that we generally work to reduce in order to protect the Funds' income streams, many callable bonds have reduced interest rate risk and tended to perform well late in this reporting period as interest rates rose. Other holdings making positive contributions to the Connecticut Funds' total returns during this reporting period were bonds backed by revenues from the 1998 master tobacco settlement agreement.

For NGX, its relative underperformance was due to its large holdings of bonds with long maturities and durations (see the inside back cover for a definition of leverage-adjusted duration). These bonds provided attractive income, but their prices are more vulnerable to rises in interest rates than bonds with shorter maturities.

HOW ABOUT THE FUNDS' DIVIDENDS AND SHARE PRICES?

With short-term interest rates remaining at historically low levels during this reporting period, the leveraged structures of these eight Funds continued to support their dividend-paying capabilities. The extent of this benefit is tied in part to the short-term rates the Funds pay their MuniPreferred(R) shareholders. During periods of low short-term rates, the Funds generally pay relatively lower dividends to their MuniPreferred shareholders, which can leave more earnings to support common share dividends. During this reporting period, this strategy enabled us to implement two dividend increases in NGK and NMB, one increase in NFC and NOM, and maintain the dividends of NTC, NGO, NMT and NGX throughout the period.

All of these Funds seek to pay stable dividends at rates that reflect each Fund's past results and projected future performance. During certain periods, each Fund may pay dividends at a rate that may be more or less than the amount of net investment income actually earned by the Fund during the period. If a Fund has cumulatively earned more than it has paid in dividends, it holds the excess in reserve as undistributed net investment income (UNII) as part of the Fund's NAV. Conversely, if a Fund has cumulatively paid dividends in excess of its earnings, the excess constitutes negative UNII that is likewise reflected in the Fund's NAV. Each Fund will, over time, pay all of its net investment income as dividends to shareholders. As of May 31, 2004, all of the Funds in this report except NGX had positive UNII balances.

NMT, NMB and NOM were trading at premiums to their net asset values as of May 31, 2004. The other five Funds were trading at discounts. As of the end of the fiscal year, all eight Funds were trading at smaller premiums or greater discounts than their average premium or discount over the course of the 12-month period.

HOW WERE THE FUNDS POSITIONED IN TERMS OF CREDIT QUALITY AND BOND CALLS AS OF MAY 31, 2004?

Given the current geopolitical and economic climate, we continued to believe that maintaining strong credit quality was an important requirement. As of the end of May 2004, the seven uninsured Funds continued to offer excellent credit quality, with allocations of bonds rated AAA/U.S. guaranteed and AA ranging from 88% in both NTC and NGK to 85% in NGO, 84% in NMB, 83% in NOM, 81% in NMT and 76% in NFC. NGX, which is allowed to invest up to 20% in uninsured investment-grade quality securities, held 83% of its portfolio in insured bonds as of May 31, 2004.

As of May 31, 2004, potential call exposure for these Funds during 2004-2005 ranged from 1% in NMB, 2% in NGX, 3% in NGK and NOM, and 4% in NFC and NGO to 10% in NTC and NMT. The number of actual bond calls in all of the Funds will depend largely on market interest rates.
