Item 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement and Item 3.02. Unregistered Sales of Equity Securities.

As previously disclosed in the Current Report on Form 8-K filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on December 16, 2004 by CancerVax Corporation (the Company), on December 15, 2004, the Company entered into a collaboration agreement (the Agreement) with Serono Technologies S.A., a Swiss corporation (Serono), in Geneva, Switzerland. Pursuant to the Agreement, the Company granted Serono a worldwide license under certain of the Company's trademarks, patents and know-how to develop, manufacture, commercialize and use for the prevention and treatment of any human disease the Company's investigational specific active immunotherapy product, Canvaxin (the Product). The license is co-exclusive with the Company in the United States, and exclusive to Serono in the rest of the world.

Under the Agreement, the parties will use commercially reasonable efforts to jointly develop the Product worldwide. The parties will use commercially reasonable efforts to jointly commercialize and co-promote the Product in the United States, subject to certain minimum sales force and detail requirements, with the Company booking sales and distributing the Product. Serono has the right, and must use commercially reasonable efforts, to commercialize the Product outside the United States. The Company will initially supply the Product for commercial sale worldwide. Serono may later establish a second manufacturing site, primarily to source Product for sales outside the United States.

In consideration for the arrangements under the Agreement, Serono will pay the Company $25 million and has granted the Company a license to certain Serono trademarks, patents and know-how in connection with the Product. The Company may also receive up to $253 million in milestone payments from Serono upon the achievement of certain development-, regulatory- and sales-based goals. Profits from sales of the Product in the United States, as well as certain expenses, will be shared equally between the parties. Serono will pay the Company a royalty on net sales of Product outside the United States. This royalty is subject to reduction by up to a set percentage upon the occurrence of certain events.

In addition, an affiliate of Serono, Serono B.V., a Netherlands corporation (Serono B.V.), agreed to purchase 1 million shares of the Company's common stock (the Shares) for an aggregate purchase price of $12 million, pursuant to the terms of Stock Purchase Agreement, dated as of December 15, 2004 (the Stock Purchase Agreement). The sale of the Shares occurred on December 21, 2004. The offer, sale and issuance of the Shares was exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act), in reliance on Rule 506 of Regulation D promulgated under the Securities Act, in that the issuance of the Shares to Serono, an accredited investor, did not involve a public offering. Serono represented its intention to acquire the Shares for investment only and not with a view to or for sale in connection with any distribution thereof and an appropriate legend was affixed to the certificate for the Shares. In connection with the sale of the Shares, the Company, Serono B.V. and certain other stockholders of the Company (including stockholders who are affiliates of the Company) entered into the Third Amended and Restated Investors' Rights Agreement, dated as of December 15, 2004 (the Amended and Restated Investors' Rights Agreement). The Amended and Restated Investors' Rights Agreement supersedes the Company's existing Investors' Rights Agreement, pursuant to which the Company previously granted registration rights to certain holders of its common stock, and makes Serono a party to such agreement and grants Serono certain registration rights with respect to the Shares.

The Company will retain control over its patent portfolio and U.S. regulatory filings, including biologic license applications for the Product. Neither party may develop or commercialize certain categories of competing products for a defined term. The parties will conduct activities under the Agreement pursuant to agreed plans and budgets. Dispute resolution procedures provide for each party to have a casting vote on certain matters; however, certain key elements of the Agreement must be agreed by the parties without resort to such procedures.

Serono has the right to terminate the Agreement for convenience upon 180 days prior notice. Either party may terminate for the material breach or bankruptcy of the other. The development or commercialization by Serono of a competing product gives CancerVax a right to terminate the Agreement; however, the development or commercialization by CancerVax of a competing product does not give Serono the right to terminate the Agreement, but instead results in CancerVax forfeiting its right to co-promote the Product in the United States. In the event of a termination of the Agreement, rights to the Product will revert to the Company. In certain circumstances, the Company will retain its license to Serono technology upon termination of the Agreement.

The performance of Serono is guaranteed by its ultimate parent entity, Serono S.A., a Swiss corporation, pursuant to a letter of guarantee.

The Agreement, the Stock Purchase Agreement and the Amended and Restated Investors Rights Agreement are attached hereto as Exhibits 10.1, 10.2 and 10.3, respectively, and the text of the press release announcing this transaction is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1. The forgoing summary and the text of the press release are qualified by reference to the Agreement, the Stock Purchase Agreement and the Amended and Restated Investors Rights Agreement, which are incorporated herein by reference.
