RE: MB Docket

Dear Ms. Dortch:

I am proud to share my hometown of Philadelphia with Ralph Roberts, the founder of Comcast. Luckily for us, Comcast is now one of the largest employers in Philadelphia, as well as its biggest corporate community sponsor. Comcast has shown a remarkable dedication to the people of Philadelphia - a devotion that has spread to hundreds of communities, large and small, throughout the United States. As the State Representative for Philadelphia's 201st district, I support the proposed Time Warner Cable/Comcast transaction because I believe that so many other cities and towns deserve to access the same benefits as my city.

Comcast has withstood the test of time through its long-view approach to hiring and business practices. Comcast invests in its employees, whether by revolutionary job training programs that keep its workers up to date on the latest technology or through its diversity workforce development programs. As Comcast grows, so do local and regional economies.

In Philadelphia, Comcast has a shining history of supporting communities in need. For many years, I have enjoyed watching Comcast employees from all levels get their hands dirty on cleanup projects as part of Comcast Cares Day. This year, this fantastic annual event took place in my neighborhood, where over 300 Comcast volunteers helped out at the Germantown Boys & Girls Club. Comcast singled out the project not only as a location that needed some sprucing up, but also to give local area schoolchildren a better place to learn and play after school hours. My constituents and I are still enjoying the impact of this project, and I look forward to all the positive outcomes that next year's event will bring.

I encourage the FCC to take my comments into consideration for the proposed Comcast/Time Warner Cable transaction. Comcast is not just a business leader; it is a community partner.

Sincerely,

/s/ Stephen Kinsey

Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

Certain statements in this communication regarding the proposed acquisition of Time Warner Cable by Comcast and the proposed transaction between Comcast and Charter, including any statements regarding the expected timetable for completing the transactions, benefits and synergies of the transactions, future opportunities for the respective companies and products, and any other statements regarding Comcast's, Time Warner Cable's and Charter's future expectations, beliefs, plans, objectives, financial conditions, assumptions or future events or performance that are not historical facts are "forward-looking" statements made within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. These statements are often, but not always, made through the use of words or phrases such as "may", "believe," "anticipate," "could", "should," "intend," "plan," "will," "expect(s)," "estimate(s)," "project(s)," "forecast(s)", "positioned," "strategy," "outlook" and similar expressions. All such forward-looking statements involve estimates and assumptions that are subject to risks, uncertainties and other factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from the results expressed in the statements. Among the key factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected in the forward-looking statements are the following: the timing to consummate the proposed transactions; the risk that a condition to closing either of the proposed transactions may not be satisfied; the risk that a regulatory approval that may be required for either of the proposed transactions is not obtained or is obtained subject to conditions that are not anticipated; the parties' ability to achieve the synergies and value creation contemplated by the proposed transactions; the parties' ability to promptly, efficiently and effectively integrate acquired operations into their own operations; and the diversion of management time on transaction-related issues. Additional information concerning these and other factors can be found in Comcast's, Time Warner Cable's and Charter's respective filings with the SEC, including Comcast's, Time Warner Cable's and Charter's most recent Annual Reports on Form 10-K, Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q and Current Reports on Form 8-K. Comcast, Time Warner Cable and Charter assume no obligation to update any forward-looking statements. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements that speak only as of the date hereof.
