Chesapeake has been in existence since its founding in 1859 in Dover, Delaware. The Company officially became incorporated as Chesapeake Utilities Corporation in 1947. Today, Chesapeake is a diversified utility company engaged in four primary business segments: natural gas distribution, transmission and marketing; propane distribution and wholesale marketing; advanced information services; and other related businesses. Chesapeake Utilities Corporation is a publicly traded company and is listed on the New York Stock Exchange, trading under the symbol CPK.

In total, Chesapeake currently serves approximately 100,000 distribution customers with either natural gas or propane in Delaware, Maryland, Florida, Virginia and Pennsylvania. The Company employs 448 people and posted $291.4 million in revenue for 2008. Over the last five years, the Company has more than doubled its market capitalization to over $200 million at the end of 2008.

Chesapeake's core business is natural gas distribution and transmission. The Delaware and Maryland natural gas distribution operation is known as Chesapeake Utilities, and the Florida natural gas distribution operation is known as Central Florida Gas. Central Florida Gas, which is headquartered in Winter Haven, Florida, serves approximately 16,800 residential, commercial and industrial customers in 23 Florida counties.

In total, the Company's natural gas distribution operations serve approximately 65,000 residential, commercial and industrial customers in Delaware, Maryland and Florida. Eastern Shore Natural Gas Company, the Company's natural gas transmission subsidiary, transports and delivers natural gas through 379 miles of transmission pipeline to industrial customers and natural gas distribution companies including the Company's Delaware and Maryland divisions, and owns and operates the only transmission pipeline south of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal on the Delmarva Peninsula.

Chesapeake's propane distribution and wholesale marketing is a major part of its unregulated business portfolio. Sharp Energy, the Company's propane distribution subsidiary, distributes propane to approximately 35,000 residential, commercial and industrial customers in Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Florida. Chesapeake's other subsidiaries include Peninsula Energy Services Company, Inc. (PESCO), a natural gas marketing company; Peninsula Pipeline Company, Inc., an intrastate pipeline company in Florida; Xeron, Inc., a propane wholesale marketing company in Houston, Texas; and BravePoint®, Inc., the Company's advanced information services subsidiary based in Atlanta.

Founded in 1924, Florida Public Utilities distributes natural gas, propane and electricity to residential, commercial and industrial customers in Florida. The Company is organized into two regulated business segments—natural gas and electric; and one non-regulated business segment—propane gas.

In total, Florida Public Utilities serves approximately 95,700 customers in 19 counties throughout the State of Florida. The company employs 348 people and posted revenues of $168.5 million for 2008. Florida Public Utilities is a publicly traded company on the NYSE Amex, trading under the ticker symbol FPU.

The Company's regulated segments sell natural gas and electricity to approximately 83,000 customers, and its unregulated segment sells propane gas through a wholly owned subsidiary, Flo-Gas Corporation, to approximately 12,500 customers throughout northeast, central and southern Florida. Florida Public Utilities also sells merchandise and other service-related products as a complement to its natural gas and propane segments.
