GENESIS LEASE LIMITED ANNOUNCES FOURTH QUARTER AND YEAR END 2009 RESULTS

SHANNON, Ireland, February 25, 2010 Genesis Lease Limited (NYSE:GLS News Genesis) today announced its financial results for the fourth quarter and year ended December 31, 2009.

Recent highlights included:

Shareholder vote on share-for-share merger with AerCap set for March 23, 2010

Full year rental revenues increased 1.7% to $219.7 million

Full year EBITDA increased 3.2% to $203.3 million

Commenting on the quarter, John McMahon, Chief Executive Officer of Genesis stated, "We have made significant progress towards completing the proposed merger transaction with AerCap. We have secured the necessary regulatory approvals and have distributed the proxy statement and prospectus in advance of our shareholder vote on the transaction at a special general meeting on March 23, 2010. We are excited that the combined company, which is set to become the world's leading independent aircraft leasing company, is well-positioned to deliver significant future earnings growth for our shareholders. The Genesis Board of Directors believes that the proposed share-for-share merger with AerCap is in the best interests of Genesis shareholders and recommends that shareholders vote in favor of the transaction."

During the fourth quarter, our globally diversified portfolio of in-demand aircraft continued to deliver solid cash flows and profitability and our payments collection performance continued to be strong through the challenging winter period. We also took an opportunity to sell an older, non-core aircraft during the quarter," Mr. McMahon concluded.

Fourth Quarter and Full Year 2009 financial results

For the quarter ended December 31, 2009, rental revenues were $62.4 million compared to $52.4 million for the same period in 2008, an increase of 19.0%. The increase primarily reflects revenue related to a negotiated early termination of one lease during the quarter, as well as a decrease in the number of non-revenue generating aircraft and the addition of one aircraft in 2009, offset by other adjustments including reduced rentals from floating-rate leases due to lower interest rates. Following the early lease termination and the receipt of the related payments, the company reclassified the related aircraft as held for sale and recognized an impairment charge of $7.5 million in the quarter.

For the year ended December 31, 2009, rental revenues were $219.7 million compared to $216.0 million for the prior year, an increase of 1.7%. The increase reflects revenue related to the negotiated early termination of one lease during the fourth quarter of 2009 and the addition of aircraft in 2008 and 2009, offset by reduced revenue relating to non-revenue generating aircraft during the year and other rental adjustments, including reduced rentals on the floating-rate leases.

For the quarter ended December 31, 2009, net income was $8.7 million, compared to $10.7 million for the same period in 2008, a decrease of 18.1%. Results for the fourth quarter of 2009 include an incremental benefit of $5.4 million relating to aircraft that were the subject of customer defaults and repossessions in 2008 and a gain on the sale of one aircraft, offset by a gain of $6.0 million related to the repurchase of securitization debt in the fourth quarter of 2008 and an increase in depreciation of $3.1 million relating to planned major maintenance costs compared to the fourth quarter of 2008.

For the year ended December 31, 2009, net income was $20.0 million, compared to $40.9 million for the same period in 2008, a decrease of 51.1%. The results for 2009 include $3.7 million of transaction costs incurred to date associated with the proposed merger with AerCap, as well as a non-cash charge of $7.7 million related to the accelerated amortization of deferred financing costs due to the reduction of capacity under the revolving credit facility from $1 billion to $200 million. Excluding those charges, net income was $30.3 million for the year ended December 31, 2009. In addition to those charges, the results for 2009 include an increase in depreciation of $10.8 million relating to planned major maintenance costs and a further incremental charge of $2.5 million with respect to the amortization of deferred financing costs and commitment fees in connection with the revolving credit facility.

All amounts referenced above as included in the results are on a pre-tax basis.

For the quarter ended December 31, 2009, EBITDA was $58.3 million compared to $51.8 million for the same period in 2008, an increase of 12.6%. For the year ended December 31, 2009, EBITDA was $203.3 million compared to $197.0 million for the same period in 2008, an increase of 3.2%. Excluding the transaction costs associated with the proposed merger, EBITDA was $59.5 million and $207.0 million for the quarter and year ended December 31, 2009, respectively. Genesis defines EBITDA as net income before provision for income taxes, interest, depreciation, impairment and amortization. EBITDA is a key measure of Genesis's operating performance and liquidity that management uses to focus on consolidated operating results exclusive of expenses that relate to the financing and capitalization of its business. Please read Reconciliation of Non-GAAP Financial Measure EBITDA for a description of EBITDA and a reconciliation of net income to EBITDA.

Aircraft Leasing and Disposal Activities

As of December 31, 2009, Genesis had 54 aircraft with a weighted average age of 7.4 years. As of that date, 53 of the 54 aircraft were in operation with 35 airlines in 21 countries. Genesis has four scheduled aircraft lease expirations in 2010, two of which Genesis expects to transition to new customers in the first quarter; the remaining two leases expire in the fourth quarter of 2010 and are currently being remarketed.

During the fourth quarter of 2009, Genesis announced that it agreed to the early termination of the leases of two Boeing 767-200 PCF aircraft and as part of the same transaction, to sell one of those aircraft to a third party. As a result of the early lease termination, the second aircraft was non-revenue generating at year end. Genesis is seeking to dispose of this aircraft and consequently has reclassified the aircraft as held for sale on its balance sheet at estimated fair value.

During January 2010, Genesis entered into a confidential settlement agreement relating to a previous customer default. Pursuant to the settlement agreement, Genesis will receive the agreed compensation from that former customer during the first quarter of 2010.

Information in respect of the Genesis portfolio of aircraft and customers can be found on its website at www.genesislease.com.

Financing Activities

On February 8, 2010, Genesis exercised its option to convert any amounts outstanding under the revolving credit facility as of April 5, 2010 to a term loan with a two year maturity to April 5, 2012. Genesis currently has $31.2 million of outstanding debt under the revolving credit facility.

Dividends

Pursuant to the terms of the amalgamation agreement between Genesis and AerCap, both Genesis and AerCap have agreed to not declare or pay any dividends prior to the closing of the transaction.

Reconciliation of Non-GAAP Financial Measure EBITDA

EBITDA is a measure of operating performance and liquidity that is not calculated in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, or GAAP. Genesis defines EBITDA as net income before provision for income taxes, interest, impairment and depreciation and amortization. EBITDA is a key measure of Genesis' s operating performance and liquidity that management uses to focus on consolidated operating results exclusive of expenses that relate to the financing and capitalization of its business. Management uses EBITDA as a financial measure to evaluate the consolidated financial and operating performance and liquidity of the business that, when viewed with GAAP results and the following reconciliation, provides a more complete understanding of factors and trends affecting Genesis' s business than GAAP measures alone. EBITDA assists Genesis in comparing its operating performance on a consistent basis as it removes the impact of its capital structure (primarily interest charges), asset base (primarily depreciation, impairment and amortization) and items outside the control of the management team (taxes) from its operating results. EBITDA also assists Genesis in comparing its liquidity on a consistent basis by providing a measure to demonstrate cash flow available for the payment of interest and dividends. EBITDA is presented in this press release because Genesis believes that EBITDA is frequently used by securities analysts, investors and other interested parties as a measure of financial performance and of debt service and dividend paying capacity. Accordingly, EBITDA is one of the metrics used by management and the board of directors to review Genesis' s financial performance and liquidity. EBITDA should not be considered a substitute for net income, income from operations or cash flows provided by or used in operations, as determined in accordance with GAAP. In evaluating EBITDA, investors should be aware that in the future Genesis may incur expenses similar to the adjustments described above. In particular, Genesis expects that depreciation of flight equipment and interest expense will continue to represent the substantial portion of its operating expenses. Therefore, the use of EBITDA as a measure of operating performance and liquidity is limited by the exclusion of a majority of Genesis' s operating expenses from the measure. The following presentation of EBITDA should not be construed as an implication that future results will be unaffected by expenses that are unusual, non-routine or non-recurring items. Investors are urged to review the GAAP financial measures included in this earnings release and Genesis' s public filings, and to not rely on any single financial measure to evaluate its business.
