Item 1.01. Entry Into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On June 30, 2010, ProLogis and various affiliates entered into a fourth amendment to the existing Global Senior Credit Agreement dated as of October 6, 2005 (the "Global Credit Agreement"). The amendment changed a number of terms of the Global Credit Agreement, including the following:

Prior to the fourth amendment, the Global Credit Agreement provided for a commitment of approximately $3.65 billion (subject to currency fluctuations) until October 6, 2010, at which time the commitments will be reduced to approximately $2.25 billion (subject to currency fluctuations) and reallocated to only certain lenders that previously agreed to extend their commitments ("Extended Commitments"). Pursuant to the fourth amendment, we reduced the aggregate amount of the current commitments to approximately $2.25 billion (subject to currency fluctuations). The terms of the Global Credit Agreement regarding the allocations and commitments on and after October 6, 2010, were not, however, changed, and the Extended Commitments remain unchanged.

We eliminated our ability to borrow in Korean won.

We eliminated the borrowing base covenant that limited the aggregate amount of certain types of our indebtedness (including borrowings under the Global Credit Agreement and other recourse indebtedness maturing within one year) to 55% or less of the value of our unencumbered property pool (as previously defined in the Global Credit Agreement) as of the end of the most recent fiscal quarter prior to the date of determination.

We added a covenant that requires us to maintain a ratio of net operating income from certain unencumbered properties to certain specified debt (including, without limitation, outstanding borrowings under the Global Credit Agreement), as of the last day of each fiscal quarter, of at least 14%.

We changed our leverage ratio so that it is tested as of the last day of each fiscal quarter rather than at all times.

We made various definitional changes in our financial covenants.

A copy of the amendment to the Global Credit Agreement is filed as an exhibit to this report and is incorporated herein by reference.

Item 9.01. Financial Statements and Exhibits.
