CONFIDENTIAL

KEY MANAGEMENT MESSAGES

Merger Overview

- The transaction, expected to close later this year, will combine two excellent companies to create a leading U.S. natural gas distribution company.
- AGL Resources and Nicor have highly complementary businesses, strong reputations and shared values. The increased scale and scope of the combined company is expected to create benefits for customers and establish a growth platform superior to what either company could achieve alone.
- Until the merger closes, both companies will continue to operate independently and conduct business as usual with customers, vendors and marketing partners.

Approval Process

- The merger requires approval by the Illinois Commerce Commission and shareholders of both companies, as well as clearance from the Securities and Exchange Commission, Federal Trade Commission and Department of Justice.
- The regulatory review process is well under way and the companies expect to have all the necessary approvals in order to complete the transaction in the second half of this year.

Integration Planning Process

- A Transition Committee, which includes officers from both companies, has been established to oversee the process of combining the two companies. Functional Integration Teams, with participants from both companies, have also been created to develop, recommend and design optimal operating models across functional areas of the combined company.
- The Integration Teams will evaluate a range of strategies as they determine how to blend the best of both companies. In some functional areas, it may make the most sense to preserve the way business is done today with little change proposed. In others, combining key elements of the operations of both companies into a new operating model may be the best strategic option. And in still others, we hope to have the opportunity to transform the business by designing models that stretch the boundaries of what either company can accomplish today and set the stage for a new era of growth.

- The focus of the integration process is not headcount reduction. Inevitably, however, some people and positions will be affected in order to successfully combine the two companies. The Transition Committee and Integration Teams will work diligently to minimize the impact to employees.
- Throughout this process, it is important that our current business continue to thrive. We must remain focused on what we do best – working together to provide safe, reliable and cost-effective service to our customers.

Communication

- Merger-related questions or comments can be sent to the merger mailbox at merger@aglresources.com. As quickly as possible, we will address concerns via merger updates or in the FAQ section of the Merger Communications page of Planet.
