NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

JUNE 30, 2004

NOTE 1. ORGANIZATION AND SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Organization

Crdentia Corp (the "Company"), a Delaware corporation, is a provider of healthcare staffing services in the United States. Such services include travel nursing, per diem staffing, contractual clinical services and private duty home health care. The Company considers the different services above to be one segment. Each of these services relate solely to providing healthcare staffing to customers that are healthcare providers and the Company utilizes common systems, databases, procedures, processes and similar methods of identifying and serving these customers.

At the beginning of 2003, we were a development stage company with no commercial operations. During the year, we pursued our operational plan of acquiring companies in the healthcare staffing field and completed the acquisition of four companies. The companies we acquired in 2003 -- Baker Anderson Christie, Inc., New Age Nurses, Inc., Nurses Network, Inc., and PSR Nurse Recruiting, Inc. and PSR Nurses Holdings Corp., which hold the limited partner and general partner interests in PSR Nurses, Ltd. -- provide the foundation for our future growth.

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited financial data as of and for the three months and six months ended June 30, 2004 and 2003 have been prepared by the Company pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Certain information and footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America have been condensed or omitted pursuant to such rules and regulations. These unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements and the Fnotes thereto included in the Company's annual Report on Form 10-KSB for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2003.

In the opinion of management, all adjustments (which include only normal recurring adjustments) necessary to present fairly the financial position, results of operations, and cash flows as of and for the three months and six months ended June 30, 2004 have been made. The results of operations for the three months and six months ended June 30, 2004 are not necessarily indicative of the operating results for the full year.

Edgar Filing: CRDENTIA CORP - Form 10QSB

Certain of the prior year financial statement amounts have been reclassified to conform to the current year presentation. These reclassifications had no impact on previously reported net loss or accumulated deficit.

The Company has a working capital deficit of $2.7 million and incurred a cash flow loss from operations of $1.8 million for the six months ended June 30, 2004. Further, the Company was in default of a covenant of its revolving line of credit at June 30, 2004, for which it received a waiver, and is in default of multiple covenants of the line of credit in the third quarter. These issues raise concerns about the ability of the Company to continue as a going concern. During the six months ended June 30, 2004, the Company raised $2,250,000 through the issuance of

CRDENTIA CORP.

JUNE 30, 2004

Series A and Series B Convertible Preferred Stock. Subsequent to June 30, 2004, the Company raised an additional $475,000 through the issuance of Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock and anticipates raising additional funds during the third quarter through the issuance of additional preferred stock. In addition, approximately $2.1 million of the $4.9 million of notes payable to selling shareholders were paid off or converted to equity during the third quarter. Also, the Company believes that operational improvements occurring in the third quarter will result in an improvement to its cash flow. The Company's financial statements have been prepared assuming the Company will continue as a going concern. The Company's ability to continue as a going concern is dependent upon its ability to develop additional sources of capital and to achieve profitable operations. If the Company's business fails to improve as expected or if the Company fails to raise additional capital, it will be forced to significantly curtail its operations until additional capital could be raised. There is no assurance that additional capital can be raised for operational purposes. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Goodwill and Intangible Assets

Intangible assets other than goodwill consist of customer relationships and international nurse contracts and are presented net of accumulated amortization. Intangibles are amortized over their respective useful lives estimated to be five years. Goodwill is assessed for impairment at least annually. The valuation of these intangibles is determined based upon valuations performed by third-party specialists and management's best estimates of fair value. As a result, the ultimate value and recoverability of these assets is subject to the validity of the assumptions used.

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes under an asset and liability approach that requires the recognition of deferred tax assets and liabilities for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been recognized in the Company's financial statements or tax return. A valuation allowance is recorded, based on currently available information, when it is more likely than not that any or all of a deferred tax asset will not be realized. The Company files a consolidated

Edgar Filing: CRDENTIA CORP - Form 10QSB

Federal income tax return with its subsidiaries.

Revenue Recognition and Allowances

The Company recognizes revenue generally on the date the Company's healthcare staff provides services to healthcare facilities or individuals in their home. The Company recognizes revenue at the gross amounts billed, as our healthcare staff are employees of the Company.

Accounts receivable are uncollateralized customer obligations due under normal trade terms. The Company provides services to various public and private medical facilities such as hospitals, nursing care facilities, etc. Management performs continuing credit evaluations of the customers' financial condition. In addition, the Company provides home healthcare to individuals on a private pay arrangement. The Company collects one week of services in advance for this type of service which is recorded as a deposit until services are performed.

CRDENTIA CORP.

JUNE 30, 2004

Senior management reviews accounts receivable on a regular basis to determine if any receivables will potentially be uncollectible. An allowance for doubtful accounts is recorded based upon management's evaluation of current industry conditions, historical collection experience and other relevant factors which, in the opinion of management, require recognition in estimating the allowance. After all attempts to collect a receivable have failed, the receivable is written off against the allowance. In the first quarter of 2004, the Company recovered amounts previously reserved in the allowance in the amount of approximately $120,000.

Stock-Based Compensation

As permitted under the provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standard (SFAS) No. 123, ACCOUNTING FOR STOCK-BASED COMPENSATION, the Company continues to account for Employee stock-based transactions under Accounting Principles Board Opinion (APB) No. 25, ACCOUNTING FOR STOCK ISSUED TO EMPLOYEES. However, SFAS 123 requires the Company to disclose pro forma net income and earnings per share as if the fair value method had been adopted. Under the fair value method, compensation cost is measured at the grant date based on the fair value of the award and is recognized over the service period, which is usually the vesting period. For non-employees, cost is also measured at the grant date, using the fair value method, but is actually recognized in the financial statements over the vesting period or immediately if no further services are required.

If the Company had elected the fair value method of accounting for employee stock-based compensation, compensation cost would be accrued at the estimated fair value of the stock award grants over the service period, regardless of later changes in stock prices and price volatility. The date of grant fair values for options granted have been estimated based on a modified Black-Scholes pricing model with the assumptions identified in the following table.

NOTE 2. REVOLVING LINES OF CREDIT

The Company had credit facilities with two commercial financing institutions for the financing of eligible accounts receivable. These accounts receivables served as security of the lines of credit. The Company paid interest monthly at 24% per annum on one obligation and approximately 10% on the other, based on the daily outstanding balance. Customer payments are used to repay the advances from the financing institutions after deducting charges for bad debts, reserves for charge backs, and interest expense. These credit facilities were paid off on June 16, 2004 with the proceeds from the Loan & Security Agreement, discussed below.

NOTE 3. NOTES PAYABLE

Edgar Filing: CRDENTIA CORP - Form 10QSB

On June 16, 2004, the Company entered into a Loan & Security Agreement with a company specializing in healthcare finance, pursuant to which the Company obtained a revolving credit facility up to $15,000,000 (the "Loan"). The Loan has a term of three years and bears interest at a rate equal to the greater of three percent (3.0%) per annum over the prime rate or nine and one-half percent (9.5%) per annum (9.5% at June 30, 2004). Accounts receivable serves as security for the Loan and it is subject to financial and reporting covenants. Customer payments are used to repay the advances on the credit facility after deducting charges for interest expense, unused line and account management fees. The financial covenants are for the maintenance of minimum net worth, minimum debt service coverage ratio, minimum EBITDA, maximum capital expenditure limits and maximum operating lease obligations. The proceeds of the Loan were used to pay off the revolving lines of credit and a note payable to a financial institution. At June 30, 2004, the Company was out of compliance with the minimum EBITDA financial covenants of the Loan, for which a waiver was received from the lender. Until such time as the Company

CRDENTIA CORP.

NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

demonstrates its ability to comply with this and other financial covenants of the Loan, the outstanding balance has been classified as a current liability on the Balance Sheet.

On August 18, 2003, the Company executed a variable rate installment note with a financial institution in the amount of $250,000. The note is subject to the same security and covenants as the related line of credit. On September 12, 2003, the Company received a loan for this amount. Under the terms of the loan, the Company is required to make monthly payments of $13,889 plus accrued interest on the unpaid principal at the institution's Base Rate plus 2% (6% at March 31, 2004). The loan was paid off on June 16, 2004, with the proceeds from the Loan and Security Agreement.

NOTE 4. SUBORDINATED CONVERTIBLE NOTES

On September 2, 2003, the Company issued $675,000 in Convertible Subordinated Promissory Notes (the "Notes") to six investors. On September 29, 2003 and October 16, 2003, the Company issued additional Notes for $25,000 and $120,000 to two additional investors, respectively. On December 3 and December 12, 2003, the Company issued additional Notes for $90,000 to four additional investors. Subject to the conversion provisions set forth in the Notes, the unpaid principal together with all accrued interest on the Notes is due and payable in full one year following the issuance date of each such note. Interest accrues on the unpaid principal balance at a rate of ten percent (10%) per annum, simple interest, and is payable in quarterly payments. The notes are convertible to Common Stock at the holder's option, prior to the due date, at an initial conversion price of $1.50 per share. The conversion price was subsequently adjusted to $1.00 per share upon the issuance of the Series A Convertible Preferred Stock.

NOTE 5. NOTES PAYABLE TO SELLERS

Edgar Filing: CRDENTIA CORP - Form 10QSB

A note to the sellers of New Age Staffing, Inc. with the principal amount of $1,385,000 is payable in equal installments of $65,952, beginning January 31, 2004, for 21 months plus interest at 4%.

Two notes to the sellers of Nurses Network, one with a balance of $64,000 is due in three equal installments on October 2, 2004, October 2, 2005 and October 2, 2006. Interest is accrued at a financial institution's Base Rate plus 1% (5% at June 30, 2004). The second note, in the amount of $50,432 plus interest accrued at a financial institution's Base Rate plus 1% (5% at June 30, 2004) is due and payable on July 2, 2004.

The Company assumed two notes from the PSR entities, one with an approximate balance of $188,911, which is based on outstanding credit card balances owed by the previous seller. The Company will make at least minimum payments on the credit card balances until they are paid in full. The second note had a principal amount of $2,525,000. Interest only payments are payable each month at a rate of 8%. Principal and interest payments begin on December 1, 2004 for

NOTE 8. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Conversion of Notes Payable to Sellers

As of July 31, 2004, holders of approximately $2.1 million of the $4.9 million notes payable to selling shareholders of several of the companies we acquired in 2003 have accepted a cash payment of $225,000 and converted their remaining debt to equity. Approximately $122,000 of the seller debt converted to Common Stock (40,822 shares at $3.00 per share price) and $1.8 million converted to Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock (29,991 shares at $60.00 per share price).

Issuance of Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock

The holders of the Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock are entitled to receive a quarterly dividend in an amount equal to 1.5 shares of Common Stock for each share of outstanding Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock held by them. If any dividend is declared on the Common Stock, the holders of the Series B-1 will be entitled to receive dividends out of the legally available funds as if each share of Series B-1 had been converted to Common Stock. The holders of the Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock have the right, at the option of the holder at any time, to convert shares of the Series B-1 into shares of the Company's Common Stock at an initial conversion ratio of 100 shares of Common Stock for each one share of Series B-1. Unless previously voluntarily converted prior to such time the Series B-1 shares will be automatically converted into Common Stock at an initial conversion ratio of one-to-one upon the earlier of the closing of an underwritten public offering of Common Stock pursuant to a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, with aggregate net proceeds of at least $25 million or the date specified by written consent or agreement of the holders of a majority of the then outstanding shares of Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock.

In addition to the Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock issued for the conversion of the seller notes as described above, the Company issued 3,750 shares of Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock at a per share price of $60.00 to an investor during July, 2004 for cash proceeds of $225,000.

OVERVIEW

We are a provider of healthcare staffing services, focusing on the areas of travel nursing, per diem staffing, contractual clinical services, and private duty home care. Our travel nurses are recruited domestically as well as internationally, and placed on temporary assignments at healthcare facilities across the United States. Our per diem nurses are local nurses placed at healthcare facilities on short-term assignments. Our contractual clinical services employees provide complete clinical management and staffing for healthcare facilities and our private duty home care employees provide nursing case management and staffing for skilled and non-skilled care in the home. We consider the different services described above to be one segment as each of these services relate solely to providing healthcare staffing to customers and utilize similar recruitment methods, common systems, databases, procedures, processes and similar methods of identifying and serving these customers.

At the beginning of 2003, we were a development stage company with no commercial operations. During the year, we pursued our operational plan of acquiring companies in the healthcare staffing field and completed the acquisition of four companies. As a result, at the end of 2003 we were providing temporary healthcare in 25 states and had contracts with approximately 150 healthcare facilities. Approximately 72% of our revenue in the first half of 2004 was derived from the placement of travel nurses and approximately 14% from per diem services. The balance came from a mix of private duty nursing and complete clinical management.

The companies we acquired in 2003 -- Baker Anderson Christie, Inc., New Age Nurses, Inc., Nurses Network, Inc., and PSR Nurse Recruiting, Inc. and PSR Nurses Holdings Corp., which hold the limited partner and general partner interests in PSR Nurses, Ltd. -- provide the foundation for our future growth. During the first half of 2004, we continued to streamline the operations we acquired in 2003 and began preparing for the integration of future acquisitions. We have continued to follow our plan to build and strengthen our existing business and to target acquisition of specialized companies in the healthcare staffing field.

For the three and six months ended June 30, 2004, sales to one customer, Rhode Island Hospital, represented more than 10% of our revenues. Our top ten customers for the three and six months ended June 30, 2004 accounted for 61% and 58% of our revenues, respectively.

During the first half of 2004, most of our customers were acute care hospitals located throughout the continental United States. As we grow, we anticipate that acute care facilities will continue to be the majority of our customer base but that the overall percentage will decline as we increase our presence in the home health area. We did not have any revenue during the first half of 2003 and did not have revenue until August 7, 2003, when we closed our first acquisition.

The gross margin on our revenues has been below the levels that our business has historically achieved. The decline was caused, generally, by a softening in the market for travel nurses in the first quarter of 2004. In the travel nursing industry, the first quarter of each year is commonly a weak quarter for results. In the second quarter, our results improved to a margin of approximately 21.5%, primarily due to the efforts of our operational staff in controlling the costs associated with the revenues and in upgrading the margins received on some contracts as they renew. Our gross margin is the difference between the revenue we realize when we bill our customers for the services of our healthcare professionals and our direct operating costs, which include the cost of the healthcare professionals and the related housing and travel costs, certain employment related taxes and workers compensation insurance coverage. Our margin can be increased by our continuing efforts to increase the number of international nurses under contract and to slightly alter our overall product mix to include more home health and allied health services, which generally have higher margins.

Our limited operating history in the healthcare staffing industry makes it difficult to forecast our future operating results. To date, we have not achieved profitability in any quarterly period, and as of June 30, 2004, we had an accumulated deficit of $58.0 million. Our revenues have declined in recent quarters. We cannot be certain that our revenues will increase and increase at a rate sufficient to achieve and maintain profitability.

Our success in achieving profitability will depend on our ability to consummate acquisitions of healthcare companies, to implement our marketing strategy and to achieve a revenue stream from the sale of services, while not exceeding budgeted expenses. As we continue to implement our business plan, we will be subject to all of the risks inherent in an emerging business, including the need to provide reliable and effective services, to develop marketing expertise, to generate sales and to raise capital sufficient to fund our growth. In the event that our market declines significantly or fails to grow as anticipated, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be materially adversely affected.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Our revenue in the second quarter of 2004 of $5.5 million was approximately 12% below the revenue realized in the first quarter of 2004. Since our average revenue per nurse remained relatively constant between the quarters, this decline can be attributed to a decrease in the number of nurses we had under contract. Almost the entire headcount decline is the result of the termination of a large contract with a hospital group that had a poor payment history. The termination of this one contract resulted in the loss of a number of nurse positions. At December 31, 2003, we partially reserved the outstanding receivables from this hospital group but, ultimately, fully recovered all amounts owed to us by early in the second quarter of 2004.

During the first half of 2004, our selling, general and administrative expense was comprised, primarily, of personnel costs, legal, audit and administrative fees related to being a public company and various other office and administrative expenses. Almost two-thirds of our selling, general and administrative expense is personnel related. Our selling, general and administrative expense in the first half of 2003 was only a fraction of that experienced in the same period in 2004 because we were in our development stage in early 2003 and did not have any operations until our first acquisition of an operating entity in August, 2003.

OUTLOOK

In 2004, we intend to continue growing and strengthening the businesses acquired in 2003 and to further expand our operations through acquisitions. Our goal is to acquire at least four additional companies in 2004, generally in the areas of per diem staffing and private duty home care. We are also exploring opportunities in the allied health and home health areas. As we acquire companies, we expect to realize immediate savings in their operations as we integrate them into our operations and as we decrease their general and administrative costs by merging their back office and support operation into ours. We have engaged an independent consulting firm to assist us in identifying acquisition targets that meet general guidelines with regard to revenue, gross profit margin and projected earnings. We have begun the process of contacting the companies that have been so identified and are in various stages of discussions with several companies.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

During the first half of 2004 the cash flow generated by our operations was not sufficient to fund our operations and was supplemented by $1.0 million of convertible preferred stock issued in February 2004 and $1.25 million of convertible preferred stock issued in June 2004. During the first quarter we utilized several factoring relationships and one banking relationship to fund our cash needs on a short-term basis. These were consolidated into a single relationship in April of 2004, to simplify the record keeping and decrease the overall cost. In June 2004, we replaced our factoring relationship with a revolving credit agreement provided by a company specializing in healthcare finance.

At June 30, 2004, we owed approximately $4.9 million to the selling shareholders of several of the companies we acquired in 2003. As of July 31, 2004, holders of approximately $2.1 million of this seller debt have accepted a cash payment of $225,000 and converted their remaining debt to equity. Approximately $122,000 of seller debt converted to Common Stock and $1.8 million converted to Series B-1 Convertible Preferred Stock. We continue to negotiate with the holder of the remaining seller debt.

As noted above in the discussion of revenue and gross margins, our operating results for the first half of 2004 have been significantly below expectations. As a result, we have continued to deplete our available cash resources such that, at June 30, 2004, our cash balance had declined to $86,000, down from $1.5 million at December 31, 2003. Subsequent to June 30, 2004, we received $475,000 from the issuance of additional convertible preferred stock and anticipate that additional equity may be available to us if we consummate the acquisitions discussed below. Operationally in the third quarter, we are experiencing an increase in travel nurses under contract and, we expect our nurse counts to increase such that by the end of the third quarter, the number of nurses we have under contract will meet or exceed our projected nurse counts.

Management believes that the operational increases noted above will result in an improvement in our monthly cash flow, such that it will turn positive sometime in the second half of the year. Through the revolving credit agreement noted above we have expanded our borrowing capacity and believe that our current cash on hand, coupled with this increased borrowing capacity, the additional capital we have raised since the end of the second quarter, the capital we anticipate we will raise in the third quarter, and anticipated improvements in cash flow from operations, will provide sufficient resources to continue operations at our current level, at least for the next twelve months. If our business fails to improve as we expect or if we fail to raise additional capital, we would be forced to significantly curtail our operations until additional capital could be raised. There is no assurance that additional capital could be raised for operational purposes.

Based on our current acquisition pipeline, we believe that additional capital will be required to acquire additional companies. We are currently negotiating with the same finance group that provides our revolving line of credit to provide us with a term loan facility for the capital required to acquire additional companies. We also anticipate that if we are successful in acquiring additional companies, additional equity capital may also be available to us. While we believe we will be successful in negotiating this term loan, there can be no assurance to that effect. If additional capital is not readily available, we will be forced to scale back our acquisition activities and our operations until our income exceeds our expenses. This would result in a significant slowdown of our development.

Our capital commitments for the next twelve months are minimal as our business does not require the purchase of extensive capital equipment or inventory.

CRITICAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Company's discussion and analysis of its financial condition and results of operation are based on the Company's financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with accounting policies generally accepted in the United States of America. The Company believes certain critical accounting policies affect its more significant judgments and estimates used in the preparation of financial statements. A description of the Company's critical accounting policies is set forth in the Company's Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003. As of, and for the three and six month periods ended June 30, 2004, there have been no material changes or updates to the Company's critical accounting policies except for the possible outcome of the current Exposure Draft on Stock Compensation.

ITEM 3. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Subsequent to June 30, 2004 and prior to the filing of this Report, we conducted an evaluation of the effectiveness of the design and operation of our disclosure controls and procedures under the supervision of, and with the participation of, our management, including the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer. Based on that evaluation, our management, including the

Edgar Filing: CRDENTIA CORP - Form 10QSB

Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures were effective at June 30, 2004, and during the period prior to the execution of this Report with the exception of the significant deficiency noted below.

During its review of the Company's internal controls over financial reporting, the Company's management became aware of a significant deficiency, which is not considered a material weakness, related to the reporting of stock-based transactions. The Company is addressing this issue with additional training for key personnel, recruitment of additional key personnel and increased internal review by management and the audit committee throughout each reporting period. This significant deficiency in our internal controls arose from a correction in the application of accounting principles relating to the recording of a beneficial conversion premium in connection with the purchase of our Series B Preferred Stock by an investor (see footnote 7 to our Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements as of June 30, 2004).

There have been no other changes in our internal controls over financial reporting during our most recent fiscal quarter that have materially affected or are likely to materially affect our internal control over financial reporting.
