Item 11. Executive Compensation

COMPENSATION DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Overview

Named Executive Officers

For 2013, the executive officers for whom the Securities and Exchange Commission's rules require compensation disclosure were:

Abhijit Y. Talwalkar our Chief Executive Officer.

D. Jeffrey Richardson our Chief Operating Officer.

Bryon Look our Chief Financial Officer and Chief Administrative Officer.

Gregory L. Huff our Chief Technology Officer.

Jean F. Rankin our General Counsel and Corporate Secretary.

We refer to these individuals as our "named executive officers."

Goals of Our Compensation Program

Our compensation program is intended to support our strategic goals, to provide all of our executive officers with a comprehensive compensation package that will motivate them to drive both short-term and long-term business success and to allow us to attract, retain and reward talented individuals to lead the business.

In light of these objectives, we utilized the following guidelines in designing our compensation program for executive officers:

We should have base salaries and employee benefit programs that are competitive with the programs offered by companies with which we compete for executive talent.

We should provide executives with the opportunity to earn short-term cash incentives based primarily on our achievement of corporate financial, strategic and operational goals. Typically, the strategic and operational goals are intended to help drive our longer-term performance and include, for example, obtaining design wins and meeting product development deadlines. In addition, because more senior executives have a greater ability to have an impact on company performance, we believe a greater percentage of their total compensation opportunity should depend on achieving performance goals. We believe our chief executive officer can have the greatest impact on our performance, and accordingly, he has a higher percentage of his total compensation opportunity in the form of incentive pay than the other executive officers.

We should offer equity-based opportunities that provide long-term incentives for creating additional stockholder value. We believe that offering our executive officers the ability to realize value from increases in the market price of our shares through equity awards, including equity awards that will not pay out unless the company meets financial performance tests, aligns the interests of our executive officers with the long-term interests of our stockholders. Equity compensation forms a significant portion of the compensation package we offer our executive officers.

Role of the Compensation Committee and Management

The Compensation Committee of our Board of Directors is responsible for the compensation of our executive officers. It considers executive compensation over several months, at a number of committee meetings, attempting to set pay at levels it considers fair and appropriate given the markets in which we compete for executive talent, the goals of our compensation program and our business and operating performance.

The committee establishes our overall executive compensation strategy and administers our executive officer compensation program. It evaluates the performance of our executive officers and sets all aspects of their compensation. The committee performs this function with respect to our Chief Executive Officer along with the other independent members of the board. The committee obtains advice from an outside consultant, receives information from our Human Resources organization and, for officers other than our Chief Executive Officer, receives advice and recommendations from our Chief Executive Officer.

Table of Contents

Compensation Consultant

The committee has an outside consultant, Exequity, LLP, that advises it and provides data on executive compensation issues. Exequity has been the committee's consultant since 2010. Exequity does not work for the company in any capacity other than as an advisor to the Compensation Committee. The committee has not identified any conflicts of interest with Exequity's work. At the committee's request, Exequity performed the following assignments in connection with 2013 executive compensation actions:

Provided comparisons of our executive compensation packages with those of peer companies, including information about incentive plan metrics, as well as information about company stock price and financial performance.

Advised the committee on the design of short-term and long-term incentive plans.

Provided an analysis showing the relationship between Chief Executive Officer pay and company performance at LSI and peer companies. The analysis included information about compensation opportunity and realizable pay.

Provided an analysis of stock repurchases and stockholder dilution at peer companies.

Provided the committee with regulatory and trend updates.

Discussed with the committee materials prepared by management.

Our Benchmarking Practices

The committee reviews compensation information from other companies to assist it in making compensation decisions for executive officers, to compare LSI's compensation to that of other companies with whom we may compete for executive talent.

For 2013 compensation decisions, the committee reviewed data from the following sources.

Proxy statements for a compensation peer group. We refer to this source as the proxy peer data.

Data for similar positions at technology companies in Northern California with annual revenues over $1 billion that participated in The Radford Executive Survey. We refer to this source as the Radford Survey data.

The following chart shows for each named executive officer the compensation data considered by the committee, as well as the primary data used for benchmarking purposes.

	Proxy Peer Data		Radford Survey Data
Abhijit Y. Talwalkar	CEO	ü	CEO
D. Jeffrey Richardson	2 nd Highest Paid	ü	COO
Bryon Look	CFO	ü	CFO
Gregory L. Huff			Chief Technical Officer ü
Jean F. Rankin	4 th Highest Paid		General Counsel ü

ü indicates the primary benchmark used when setting 2013 pay.

The committee used Radford Survey data as the primary benchmark for Ms. Rankin and Mr. Huff because the proxy peer data did not include enough data for individuals with comparable positions.

Table of Contents

Each year, we review the appropriateness of our peer group in light of changes to our company and our industry. Our intention is to use the same compensation peer group for several years unless circumstances necessitate a change. We did not change the peer group in 2013. We last modified our peer group in 2012 following the sale of our external storage systems business in 2011. Our peer group consists of 19 companies in directly comparable or closely related industries. LSI's revenues closely approximated the median revenues of the peer group at the time the benchmarking analysis was conducted. We believe this group of similarly-sized semiconductor producers and equipment companies is a reasonable approximation of the competition LSI faces for top executive talent.

The peer group used for 2013 compensation decisions consisted of:

Advanced Micro Devices, Inc.	KLA-Tencor Corporation
Altera Corporation	Lam Research Corporation
Analog Devices, Inc.	Linear Technology Corporation
Atmel Corporation	Marvell Technology Group Ltd.
Avago Technologies Limited	MEMC Electronic Materials, Inc.
Broadcom Corporation	NVIDIA Corporation
Cypress Semiconductor Corporation	ON Semiconductor Corporation
Fairchild Semiconductor International	PMC-Sierra, Inc.
International Rectifier Corporation	Xilinx, Inc.
Intersil Corporation

You can find a list of the companies included in this year's Radford Survey group and in the Radford Northern California group that the committee used last year after the Compensation Committee Report.

The committee reviewed compensation information for base salary, actual bonus, target bonus, total cash opportunity and long-term compensation, as well as total compensation.

Compensation Elements

Our executive officer compensation program includes the following types of pay:

Base salary.

Bonus incentives.

Equity incentives.

Severance benefits.

An allowance in lieu of executive perquisites.

Other benefits generally available to all of our employees.

Except for benefits available to employees generally, the Compensation Committee reviews each element of executive compensation separately and total compensation as a whole. The committee determines the appropriate mix of elements with a view to rewarding individual and company performance and to ensuring that, with respect to base salary, target bonus and equity compensation, we remain competitive with the executive officer compensation practices of our peers. The committee also reviews tally sheets that list the value of each major element of compensation that we pay to each of our executive officers in a year, as well as information about historical equity grants and potential gains at various stock prices.

In determining the extent of the use and the weight of each element of compensation, the committee considers the effect and importance of each element in meeting our compensation objectives. For example, base salary and generally available benefits allow us to remain competitive in the marketplace in order to continue to attract top talent. We typically structure our bonus incentives to reward executive officers for achieving corporate and organizational performance goals.

Cash Compensation

We typically set base salaries and target bonus percentages for individual executive officers when we hire them or when we promote them from other positions at the company. We review base salaries and target bonus percentages annually and at other times if individual circumstances make doing so appropriate. Circumstances under which we might make changes include:

When an individual's role in the company changes and they have more or less responsibility or have more or less potential to affect our results.

When doing so maintains what we believe are appropriate relationships between the compensation provided to different LSI executive officers.

When we believe doing so is necessary for retention reasons.

When market data indicates that we are not compensating an individual competitively.

Table of Contents

Our bonus program uses non-GAAP operating income to determine how much funding we provide for employee bonuses. We believe use of this measure balances the goals of increasing revenue and improving operating results. Non-GAAP operating income and non-GAAP operating income as a percentage of revenue are principal measures we use to evaluate the performance of our business. We minimize the risk that expenses are reduced to levels that threaten future performance by including operational metrics related to development of future products and customer satisfaction in the bonus program, and by including a revenue test in our long-term, performance-based restricted stock unit awards.

Non-GAAP operating income excludes stock-based compensation, amortization of acquisition-related intangibles, purchase accounting effect on inventory, restructuring of operations and other items, net, gain on remeasurement of a pre-acquisition equity interest to fair value and gain or loss on the sale or write-down of investments.

Equity Compensation

Our equity incentives include stock options and restricted stock units that are multi-year awards intended to provide incentives to our executive officers to increase stockholder value and to continue to serve as an employee of LSI at least until their options become exercisable or their restricted stock units vest.

In 2013, we awarded stock options and two types of restricted stock units to our named executive officers. The stock options have a seven-year term assuming continued employment and become exercisable at the rate of 25% per year. The performance-based restricted stock units vest in three years, but only if we meet two performance tests, and if the individual stays with the company. The time-based restricted stock units vest at the rate of one quarter per year for four years if the individual stays with the company.

We believe that the use of time-based restricted stock units in addition to stock options and performance-based restricted stock units helps further our retention goals by encouraging our executive officers to remain with the company and fully execute our design win and customer focus strategies. These strategies generally take a number of years to be fully implemented and reflected in our financial performance.

In 2013, the committee selected a dollar value that it intended to award each named executive officer in the form of equity compensation and allocated that amount to different forms of equity awards as follows:

45% as a stock option.

30% as performance-based restricted stock units.

25% as time-based restricted stock units.

We typically grant equity awards to employees broadly in early March of each year. We make other grants during the year principally for new hires, for retention and in connection with promotions. We generally make these other grants at the beginning of each month and at regularly scheduled board meetings. We do not decide when to make equity grants based on our plans for the public release of material information and do not time our release of material information to the public based on when we make equity grants.

The committee may take action to grant awards on a future date. In the context of our annual equity grant program, this enables all employees, including our executive officers, to have the same grant date for equity awards that are part of that program. Under that program, awards for different groups of employees are typically approved on different days, but all awards have the same grant date.

In determining levels of executive compensation, the committee reviews and considers existing equity awards, but does not have a formal policy concerning the impact of grants made in the past on future compensation.

Severance Benefits

We believe that reasonable severance arrangements can be beneficial both for executive officers and for the company. By providing some post-employment monetary security, these arrangements enable employees to focus more energy on the company's business, particularly in times of uncertainty. Having a pre-determined amount of compensation that an executive officer will receive following a termination of employment may also reduce the amount of cost and effort we must expend in individual negotiations. You can find a description of our severance programs below under Change-in-Control and Termination Arrangements.

Allowance in lieu of executive perquisites

Before 2009, we provided our executive officers with a number of executive perquisites. In 2009, we replaced these benefits with a cash payment to reduce the burden of administering individual programs while providing our executives the flexibility to use the money for those services that are most important to them. The amount of the payment is $25,000 per year for our Chief Executive Officer and $20,000 per year for each of the other executive officers.

Company-wide Benefits

Our executive officers also are eligible to participate in the health and welfare programs that we make available to our employees generally, although with higher benefit levels in the case of life insurance and accidental death and dismemberment insurance. They can also participate in our 401(k) program and our employee stock purchase plan on the same terms as other employees.

Table of ContentsAnalysis of Compensation Risk

We have considered our compensation programs and policies for employees and do not believe that they are reasonably likely to have a material adverse effect on the company.

2013 Compensation Decisions*Overview*

In 2013, we targeted total compensation opportunity, including base salary, target bonus percentage and equity compensation, in the third quartile, that is between the 50th and 75th percentiles, of the relevant peer group, in order to provide a competitive compensation opportunity to attract and retain talented individuals as senior managers of the company and to recognize the difficulty of achieving the goals in some of our incentive plans. To the extent that we do not attain our operating goals or our stock price does not increase, our executive officers may not achieve payouts in the third quartile. While we also targeted individual compensation elements in the same range, individual elements may vary based on factors such as: an assessment of the individual's performance, the level of other pay elements, retention concerns, experience, succession planning considerations and what was negotiated when the individual initially joined the company. We set Mr. Richardson's base salary and target bonus opportunity above the 75th percentile of second highest paid executive officers because most members of our compensation peer group did not have a chief operating officer and we believed that his responsibilities and ability to have an impact on our business generally exceeded those of the second highest paid executive officer at those companies.

Following the base salary adjustments described below, the committee believed that the compensation packages it awarded in February 2013 to the named executive officers had the following absolute values and were all in the third quartile of the pay packages awarded by the relevant peer companies.

Total Pay Opportunity for 2013

Name	Target total pay opportunity $(1)
Abhijit Y. Talwalkar	7,500,000
D. Jeffrey Richardson	4,037,500
Bryon Look	2,650,000
Gregory L. Huff	2,543,750(2)
Jean F. Rankin	2,035,000

- (1) Target total pay opportunity includes base salary, bonus assuming payment at target and the value of equity awards granted. For several reasons, including the complexity of valuing our performance-based restricted stock units for financial reporting purposes, the committee assigned each performance-based restricted stock unit award a value equal to the target number of restricted stock units awarded multiplied by our closing stock price on the date of grant.
- (2) Includes a special retention restricted stock unit award valued at $500,000, which was not considered a part of Mr. Huff's annual pay opportunity.

The amounts shown in the table above represent an estimate of what the named executive officers might earn, not actual cash payments we have made or may make to them. The actual amount they will earn could be more or less than the amounts shown and will depend on company performance, whether the named executive officers remain with the company and, in the case of equity awards, our future stock price.

Base Salary

The following table provides information about the base salaries of our named executive officers.

Base Salary Changes in 2013

Name	Annual Base Salary at 12/31/2012 ($)	Annual Base Salary at 12/31/2013 ($)	Change ($)
Abhijit Y. Talwalkar	800,000	800,000
D. Jeffrey Richardson	500,000	550,000	50,000
Bryon Look	450,000	450,000
Gregory L. Huff	375,000	425,000	50,000
Jean F. Rankin	420,000	420,000

Table of Contents

The committee evaluated the base salaries of the named executive officers in February 2013, at which time it increased the base salaries of Messrs. Richardson and Huff based on its evaluation of peer company data and noting the fact that Mr. Richardson had not received an increase in 2012.

The committee did not change the base salary of Messrs. Talwalkar and Look or Ms. Rankin in 2013.

Bonus Incentives

The following table provides information about the target bonus for each of our named executive officers. The target bonus percentages shown are percentages of base salary.

Target Bonus Percentages for 2013

Name	Target Bonus (%)
Abhijit Y. Talwalkar	150
D. Jeffrey Richardson	125
Bryon Look	100
Jean F. Rankin	75
Greg Huff	75

The committee reviewed the target bonus percentages for each of the named executive officers in February 2013. At that time, it increased Mr. Talwalkar's target bonus percentage from 135% of base salary to 150%, which was consistent with the 50th percentile of the compensation peer group. The committee also increased Mr. Richardson's target bonus percentage from 110% of base salary to 125%, to maintain an appropriate relationship between his compensation and that of Mr. Talwalkar and to reflect Mr. Richardson's importance to the company's succession planning. The committee did not change the target bonus percentages of the other named executive officers in 2013.

The committee established a bonus program for all employees in February 2013. Under that program, no bonuses would be paid unless our non-GAAP operating income was at least $200 million. If that threshold was met, the program provided that individual bonuses would be based on both company and individual performance.

The program provided funding for bonuses according to the following table:

If non-GAAP operating income is:	Then the bonus pool will be calculated as follows:
Less than $200 million	No bonus pool
At least $200 million, but less than $400 million	13.11% of non-GAAP operating income minus $1.23 million
At least $400 million, but less than $470 million	12.81% of non-GAAP operating income
$470 million or more	$60.2 million plus 20% of non-GAAP operating income in excess of $470 million

The program capped the bonus that could be earned by any executive officer at an amount equal to twice the officer's target bonus.

At the time the 2013 program was established, the Board-approved plan for 2013 estimated that non-GAAP operating income would be approximately $400 million. At that level of non-GAAP operating income, we estimated that the bonus pool available for employees would be approximately 80% of the sum of their target bonuses. Our actual non-GAAP operating income for 2013 was $383 million. Bonuses for our top performing tier of employees, approximately 11% of the plan participants, typically ranged from 94% to 110% of their target bonus. For the named executive officers, 70% of their target bonus opportunity was based on company financial performance and 30% was based on individual performance. Each named executive officer's final bonus was thus determined pursuant to the following formula:

$$\text{Bonus} = (\text{Base salary} \times \text{target bonus percentage}) \times (0.7 \times \text{company performance factor} + 0.3 \times \text{individual performance factor})$$

The company performance factor for all eligible employees was 81%. The committee also set specific operational and strategic goals for the named executive officers that would be considered in determining their individual performance factors. These goals were intended to focus management on actions that would drive performance in areas that the committee believed were critical to our short-term and long-term business success. The committee believed that achieving the goals would require significant effort during the year and achievement was not assured. Those goals, along with the company's performance against those goals, are described below.

- (1) Achieve the level of performance contemplated by our 2013 operating plan and achieve top quartile revenue and non-GAAP earnings growth compared to our peers.

Partially achieved. We achieved a number of operating plan targets, and did not achieve the relative revenue and non-GAAP earnings goal.

Table of Contents

- (2) In our networking business, increase our content in customer base station and cloud control products.

Achieved. We made solid progress winning new business and improved the revenue profile of the business.

- (3) Increase revenue in our flash memory businesses.

Partially achieved. We significantly increased sales of our PCI-e flash adapters, although sales of our flash controllers were challenged while our next-generation product is under development.

- (4) Develop business in new areas.

Achieved.

- (5) Implement quality control programs for our manufacturing programs.

Achieved.

- (6) Advance LSI as a leading brand in data centers, mobile networks and flash memory, and as a growth company with investors.

Achieved.

In order to encourage the named executive officers to work together for the good of the company and its stockholders, the committee determined the company's overall performance on these goals and used that evaluation to determine each named executive officer's bonus, rather than determining individual bonuses by focusing on different goals. The committee considered our performance on these goals as a whole and did not assign a specific value or weight to any individual goal. It believed that the level of achievement reflected good performance in a difficult economy and excellent progress on strategic actions that could drive long-term business success. As a result, it awarded each named executive officer a bonus equal to 100% of his or her target bonus.

The following table shows the bonuses we paid to our named executive officers for 2013.

Bonuses for 2013

Name	Bonus ($)
Abhijit Y. Talwalkar	1,200,000
D. Jeffrey Richardson	687,500

Bryon Look	450,000
Gregory L. Huff	318,750
Jean F. Rankin	315,000

Equity Awards

The following table provides information about the value in the form of equity awards that the committee awarded in 2013 to our named executive officers.

Equity Awards in 2013

Name	Stock options ($)	Performance-based	Time-based restricted stock units ($)	Approximate value of equity awards $(1) restricted stock units $(1)
Abhijit Y. Talwalkar	2,475,000	1,650,000	1,375,000	5,500,000
D. Jeffrey Richardson	1,260,000	840,000	700,000	2,800,000
Bryon Look	787,500	525,000	437,500	1,750,000
Gregory L. Huff	585,000	390,000	825,000	1,800,000(2)
Jean F. Rankin	585,000	390,000	325,000	1,300,000

- (1) Performance-based restricted stock unit value was converted to a number of shares using the methodology described below, which was viewed as reasonable by the committee, but which differs from the methodology later used to value these awards for financial reporting purposes.
- (2) Of this amount, $500,000 was attributable to a special retention award granted in 2013. We made this award because we believed that Mr. Huff's technology insights and experience were important to our development of future businesses and his existing equity awards did not provide sufficient incentive for him to remain with the company. 50% of the special retention award is scheduled to vest on the second anniversary of the grant date and 50% is scheduled to vest on the fourth anniversary of the grant date.

Table of Contents

Equity awards were increased for all proxy officers with the exception of Mr. Look when compared to 2012 awards. Equity awards generally are sized to arrive at a target compensation level that falls within the third quartile of the relevant peer group for each individual.

The stock options shown in the table have a seven-year term and become exercisable at the rate of 25% per year. With the exception of Mr. Huff's retention grant, the time-based restricted stock units also vest at the rate of 25% per year. The performance-based restricted stock units will vest after three years if the two performance tests described below are met.

In 2013, we determined for each executive officer the dollar amount that we wanted to award to that individual as part of our annual compensation program in the form of equity awards. That amount is shown in the column "Approximate value of equity awards" in the table above, except that for Mr. Huff, that amount was less than the amount shown by the $500,000 value of his retention grant. The committee determined to award 45% of that value in the form of stock options, 30% in the form of performance-based restricted stock units and 25% in the form of time-based restricted stock units. The number of shares subject to each award was determined as follows:

Stock options: We divided 45% of the total amount by the value for financial reporting purposes of a stock option to purchase one share.

Performance-based restricted stock units. We divided 30% of the total amount by our closing stock price on the grant date to obtain the target number of performance-based restricted stock units.

Time-based restricted stock units. We divided 25% of the total amount by our closing stock price on the grant date.

The performance-based restricted stock units will vest in three years, but only if, over a three-year performance period, the percentage change in our revenue and the percentage change in our adjusted operating income, each relative to that of the companies in our compensation peer group, are at least equal to the thresholds described below. If the two thresholds are met, the number of performance-based restricted stock units that will vest will vary based on the level of our revenue performance, but cannot exceed twice the target number of restricted stock units. Adjusted operating income for this purpose is computed as GAAP operating income, excluding the impact of stock-based compensation, amortization of intangibles and restructuring charges.

The committee chose to measure our performance against our peers so that the level of payout from these awards would depend on how well we performed compared to our peers. The committee chose revenue and adjusted operating income as the tests because it believed that using both measures is more likely to lead to sustainable performance than either would individually because they balance the desire to increase revenue with the desire to increase profitability. The committee also believed that those measures are important to our investors. While the adjusted operating income metric is similar to the measure we use in our annual cash bonus program, the committee believed it appropriate to use that metric because at this point in our business cycle, improving profitability is one of our primary financial goals. The committee also felt that the use of the metric was different in the two programs. For the annual bonus program, the target was an absolute non-GAAP operating income amount based on our financial plan for the year. For the performance-based restricted stock unit program, the adjusted operating income metric is a relative performance metric, one that compares our performance against that of a peer group of companies.

The following table shows the number of performance-based restricted stock units that will vest at different levels of revenue growth performance, assuming the change in our adjusted operating income over the three-year performance period is at least at the 35th percentile of our compensation peer group. If our revenue performance is less than this level, none of the performance-based restricted stock units will vest.

Performance-Based Restricted Stock Unit Targets and Payouts

Multiply the target number of performance-based restricted stock units by the following percentage to determine how many restricted stock units
If LSI's revenue growth is equal to or greater than the revenue growth of this percentage of the peer companies (%)
Less than 35	0
35	25
60	100
75	200

In 2013, the committee changed the metric used to scale final payments from adjusted operating income to revenue to increase the importance of relative revenue growth compared to our peers. As was the case with the performance-based restricted stock units granted in 2012, LSI must perform at the 60th percentile of its peer group on the metric used to scale payments in order to earn the target number of shares granted, and must perform at the 75th percentile of its peer group on that metric to earn the maximum number of shares granted (200% of target).

Table of ContentsOther Compensation MattersRelationship of Mr. Talwalkar's Compensation to that of Other Executive Officers*

Mr. Talwalkar's salary, target bonus opportunity and equity awards are each greater than those of our other executive officers because the Compensation Committee believes that the Chief Executive Officer has the ability to make decisions and take actions that will have a significantly greater impact on the company's performance than the decisions made and the actions taken by the other executive officers. The committee believes that there is an appropriate relationship between the compensation of Mr. Talwalkar and the other executive officers.

Last Year's Advisory Vote on Executive Compensation

At last year's annual meeting, our stockholders voted on our 2012 executive compensation. At the meeting, stockholders approved our executive compensation in an advisory vote, with approximately 97% of the shares for which a vote was cast for or against being voted FOR our executive compensation. In light of that vote, the committee did not believe that any changes to our compensation program were needed.

Stock Ownership Guidelines

In 2010, we adopted stock ownership guidelines for our executive officers and members of our Board of Directors. Our Board believed that ownership of a meaningful amount of company stock would further align the interests of management and the Board with the interests of our stockholders. Under these guidelines, the individuals holding the positions listed below must achieve ownership of the number of shares shown by the later of March 2015 or five years from the date of appointment or election. Shares owned by an executive officer or an immediate family member, as well as one-half of time-based restricted stock units held by the executive officer, count toward the ownership requirement. Stock options and unvested performance-based restricted stock units do not count toward the ownership requirement.

Stock Ownership Guidelines

Position	Number of Shares
CEO	300,000
CFO or COO	80,000
Other Executive Officers	60,000
Members of the Board of Directors	20,000

At December 31, 2013, each of our named executive officers held enough shares to meet the ownership guidelines.

We do not allow executive officers to hedge either outstanding equity awards they hold or LSI stock they hold.

Policy on Recoupment of Compensation

We have a policy under which we can require an executive officer to repay cash bonuses and equity awards if we must make a material restatement of our financial statements as a result of the individual's intentional misconduct. We believe it is important for the company to have a contractual right to recover compensation in these situations and to require executive officers to agree to this policy when we award them stock options.

Accounting and Tax Considerations

In designing our executive compensation programs, we consider the accounting and tax effects that each component of the program will or may have on the company and our executive officers. For incentive-based compensation, the Compensation Committee considers the desirability of having that compensation qualify for deductibility for tax purposes under Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code. That law provides that non-performance-based compensation in excess of $1 million paid to certain executive officers is not deductible by the company for tax purposes.

The Compensation Committee balances the desirability of having compensation qualify for deductibility with our need to maintain flexibility in compensating executive officers in a manner designed to promote our goals. As a result, the Compensation Committee has not adopted a policy that all compensation must be deductible. For example, the time-based restricted stock units we award require only continued employment in order to vest. These awards are not designed to qualify for this deduction because we believe that the uncertainty as to vesting that would result from making those awards require meeting a performance test in order to vest would substantially reduce the retention value of providing those awards.

In order for these restricted stock units to vest, the holder must remain employed by LSI through the vesting date.

- (3) The amounts shown in these columns relate to performance RSUs we granted in 2012 and 2013. Through the end of 2013, our performance would have provided a payout on the 2012 awards at the maximum level and would not have resulted in a payout on the 2013 awards. Pursuant to Securities and Exchange Commission rules, the information we are providing about these RSUs assumes the maximum level of performance is met for the 2012 awards and the threshold level of performance is met for the 2013 awards. The following table provides information about the vesting of these awards. The actual number of performance RSUs that vest will depend on future company performance and whether the holder remains employed by LSI through the vesting date and may be different than the amounts shown below.

Table of ContentsPension Benefits for 2013

In connection with our merger with Agere Systems in 2007, we assumed Agere's pension plans. Ms. Rankin is a participant in Agere's pension plans. The following table sets forth information about her participation in those plans as of December 31, 2013:

Name	Plan Name	Number of Years Credited Service (#)	Payments During Last Fiscal Year ($)
			Present Value of Accumulated Benefit($)
Jean F. Rankin	Agere Systems Inc.	18.92(1)	426,123(2)
	Pension Plan
	Agere Systems Inc.	18.92(1)	813,416(3)
	Supplemental Pension Plan

- (1) The amount shown is Ms. Rankin's years of service on April 6, 2009, when service-based accruals under the Agere Systems Inc. Pension Plan were discontinued. Ms. Rankin will continue to earn service credit for benefit eligibility and early retirement reduction purposes. Ms. Rankin's actual total service as of December 31, 2013 was 23.67 years.
- (2) To compute this amount, we assumed that Ms. Rankin would retire at age 65 and then receive a monthly annuity from the plan. The present value of her benefit was calculated using an interest rate of 4.70% and the male and female annuitant mortality tables prescribed by the Pension Protection Act for 2014. No pre-retirement mortality was assumed.
- (3) To compute this amount, we assumed that Ms. Rankin would retire immediately and then receive a lump-sum payment from the plan. The Supplemental Pension Plan benefit has two components. The first component is an excess retirement benefit which is based upon the service based formula of the Agere Systems Inc. Pension Plan for pay in excess of the compensation limits under that plan. The second component is the minimum pension benefit in which Mrs. Rankin vested at age 50. The minimum pension benefit is offset by all other qualified and nonqualified defined benefit pension benefits. For purposes of converting Ms. Rankin's excess retirement benefit into a lump sum form of payment, we used an interest rate of 4.50% and the unisex mortality table prescribed by the Pension Protection Act for lump sum distributions in 2013. For purposes of converting Ms. Rankin's net minimum retirement benefit into a lump sum form of payment, we used an interest rate of 8.25% and the unisex mortality table prescribed by the Pension Protection Act for lump sum distributions in 2013.

The Agere pension plans applicable to Ms. Rankin contain two programs, one in which benefits are based on years of service and compensation history and one that is an account balance program. Which program an employee participates in, and whether they participate in the plans at all, depends on the date the employee was hired.

Ms. Rankin participates in the service-based program. Under this program, a participant's annual pension benefit is equal to 1.4% of the sum of the individual's:

Average annual pay (base salary and annual bonus award) for the five years ending December 31, 1998, excluding the annual bonus award paid in December 1997, times the number of years of service prior to January 1, 1999;

Pay subsequent to December 31, 1998 and prior to April 6, 2009; and Annual bonus award paid in December 1997.

The normal retirement age under the service-based program is 65. Participants can retire at any time with a reduced benefit. Participants who are at least age 50 with at least 15 years of service can retire with a subsidized early retirement benefit based on service and compensation history through December 31, 2004. A 3% reduction is applied to the benefits accrued through December 31, 2004 for each year that age plus total years of service at retirement is less than 75. At December 31, 2013, Ms. Rankin was eligible to retire under this provision.

Federal laws place limitations on compensation amounts that may be included under the Agere Systems Inc. Pension Plan. In 2009, the last year qualified accruals were earned, up to $245,000 in eligible base salary and bonus could be included in the calculation under the plan.

Compensation and benefit amounts that exceed the applicable federal limitations are taken into account, and pension amounts related to annual bonus awards payable to Ms. Rankin are paid, under the Agere Systems Inc. Supplemental Pension Plan. That plan is a non-contributory plan and has the same two programs and uses the same benefit formulas and eligibility rules as the Pension Plan. Pension amounts under the Pension Plan and Supplemental Pension Plan are not subject to reductions for social security benefits or other offset amounts.

The Supplemental Pension Plan also provides executive officers with minimum pensions. Eligible retired executive officers and surviving spouses may receive an annual minimum pension equal to 15% of the sum of final base salary plus target annual bonus. This minimum pension will be offset by other amounts received by plan participants under the Pension Plan and Supplemental Pension Plan. At December 31, 2013, Ms. Rankin was eligible to retire and receive this benefit.

Change-in-Control and Termination Arrangements

We have two policies that provide severance benefits for executive officers. The LSI Corporation Severance Policy for Executive Officers – Non-Change-in-Control Program applies when a change in control for purposes of Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code has not occurred. The LSI Corporation Severance Policy for Executive Officers – Change-in-Control Program applies when a change in control has occurred within a specified period of time before an executive officer leaves the company.

Benefits When a Change in Control has not Occurred

If an executive officer's employment is terminated other than for cause (as defined below) and no change in control has occurred within the preceding 18 months, in the case of our chief executive officer, or 12 months, in the case of other executive officers, then pursuant to the Non-Change-in-Control Program, the individual will be entitled to receive from LSI the following if the individual timely executes a separation agreement:

Payments equal to:

In the case of the President and Chief Executive Officer, 1.5 times the sum of (i) his or her base salary plus (ii) his or her average annualized cash bonus for the most recent three years.

In the case of the Chief Operating Officer, 2 times his or her base salary.

In the case of all other executive officers, 1.75 times his or her base salary.

In the case of the President and Chief Executive Officer, immediate vesting of all outstanding equity awards, other than those with performance-based vesting, that would have vested by the 18-month anniversary of the termination date, with any awards having annual vesting being deemed to have monthly vesting for this purpose.

Reimbursement for a period of 18 months, in the case of the President and Chief Executive Officer, and 12 months for other executive officers, of COBRA health insurance costs.

The payments described in the first bullet above will be made in 12 monthly installments beginning the month after the executive officer leaves the company. If necessary for the payments to come within the short-term deferral rule of Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code, the payments will be made in a smaller number of installments.

Benefits When a Change in Control has Occurred

If a change in control has occurred within the time periods set forth above, then pursuant to the Change-in-Control Program, an executive officer whose employment is terminated other than for cause or who terminates his or her employment for good reason (as defined below) will be entitled to receive from LSI the following if the individual timely executes a separation agreement:

A lump sum amount equal to:

In the case of the President and Chief Executive Officer, 2.75 times the sum of (i) his or her base salary plus (ii) his or her target bonus.

In the case of other executive officers, 2 times the sum of (i) his or her base salary plus (ii) his or her target bonus.

Immediate vesting of all outstanding equity awards.

Reimbursement of COBRA health insurance costs for a period of 18 months.

If the executive officer's severance payments would be subject to the excise tax imposed by Section 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code, then the severance payments will be reduced to the greater of:

- (a) The largest portion of the payments that would not be subject to the excise tax, or
- (b) The portion of the payments that results in the executive officer receiving the greatest amount on an after-tax basis.

Additional Terms and Definitions Applicable to Both Policies

The separation agreement must include a full release of claims, an agreement not to compete with LSI, an agreement not to solicit LSI's employees and a non-disparagement agreement for the term of the severance period.

Cause is defined in the policies to mean an executive officer's:

Material neglect (other than as a result of illness or disability) of his or her duties or responsibilities, or

Conduct (including action or failure to act) that is not in the best interest of, or is injurious to, LSI.

Table of Contents

Good reason is defined in the Change-in-Control Program to mean the occurrence of any of the following events without the executive officer's written consent:

A material reduction in the individual's duties or responsibilities compared to those in effect immediately prior to the reduction, or the assignment to the individual of materially reduced duties or responsibilities.

A material reduction in the individual's base salary.

A material relocation of the individual's principal office, although a relocation of less than 50 miles from the individual's then present office location will not be deemed material.

In order to claim a good reason termination, (a) the individual must notify the company of the event constituting good reason within 30 days of its initial occurrence, (b) the individual must assert a termination for good reason by written notice to the company within three months of the initial occurrence of the good reason, and (c) the company must have been given at least 30 days to cure the event that constitutes good reason and shall have failed to have done so.

The following table shows the potential payments that would have been made to Messrs. Talwalkar, Richardson, Look, and Huff and Ms. Rankin had a termination without cause occurred as of December 31, 2013, in each case unrelated to a change in control of LSI. On that date, LSI's stock price was $11.04 per share.

The amounts shown in these columns reflect the grant date fair value of the stock option or restricted stock units granted to the named individual. You can find information about the assumptions we used in valuing these stock options in note 4 to the financial statements included in Item 8. The restricted stock units were valued using the closing price of our stock on the grant date. The following table presents additional information about stock options and restricted stock units held by our non-employee directors at the end of 2013.

Our standard director cash compensation program is shown in the table below. Directors who are employees of the company receive no additional compensation for their service as a director. In addition to the payments shown below, each non-employee director receives a stock option and restricted stock units when he or she first becomes a director and each March 1 thereafter if he or she has been a director for at least six months. The number of shares subject to the stock option is determined by dividing $96,000 by the value for financial reporting purposes of an option to purchase one share. The number of restricted stock units received is equal to $64,000 divided by our closing stock price on the date of grant. We believe this results in the stock option and restricted stock units the director receives having an aggregate value of approximately $160,000, with 60% of the value in the form of the stock option and 40% of the value in the form of the restricted stock units. The stock options become exercisable in full six months after the date of grant and the restricted stock units vest in full one year after the date of grant. Options granted to a director may be exercised only while the director serves on the Board, within 12 months after death or following termination of service on the Board as a result of total disability or within 90 days after the individual ceases to serve as a director of LSI for a reason other than death, total disability or misconduct, but in no event after the seven-year term of the option has expired.

Potential Change in Control

On December 15, 2013, LSI, Avago Technologies Limited and two subsidiaries of Avago entered into a merger agreement pursuant to which LSI would merge with a subsidiary of Avago. As a result of the merger, each outstanding share of LSI common stock, other than shares held by Avago, would be converted into the right to receive $11.15 per share. LSI's stockholders adopted the merger agreement on April 9, 2014. Subject to certain customary closing conditions set forth in the merger agreement, LSI expects to consummate the merger in early May 2014, after which time our common stock will be delisted from the NASDAQ Global Select Market.

Item 13. Certain Relationships and Related Transactions, and Director Independence
Related Persons Transaction Policy and Procedures

Our Board has adopted a written policy relating to approval of transactions with related persons. Under that policy, any transaction or series of transactions in which (a) LSI is a participant, (b) the amount involved exceeds $120,000 and (c) a director or executive officer of LSI or any person related to any such individual has or may have a material direct or indirect interest, must receive the prior approval of the Board of Directors, excluding any director who has the direct or indirect interest. For the purposes of our policy, a material direct or indirect interest is determined in accordance with the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission concerning related-person transactions. Our policy provides that:

If a director or executive officer becomes aware that LSI is considering becoming a participant in a transaction in which that individual has or may have a material direct or indirect interest, then that person must advise our Corporate Secretary of the transaction.

Following receipt of a notification from a director or executive officer, the Board of Directors will gather as much information as possible about the proposed transaction and consider whether the proposed transaction is fair to LSI and whether there is any other reason why it may not be appropriate for LSI to enter into the transaction. The Board also may consider whether there are alternate transactions that LSI could pursue that could accomplish the same business purpose on similar terms to LSI. The person with the material interest should not be present during the consideration of the transaction unless requested by the Board of Directors.

The person with the material interest should not participate in the negotiation of the transaction by LSI, unless approved by that person's supervisor or the Board of Directors.

In the event that a director or executive officer of LSI does not realize that a transaction is subject to our related-person transaction policy until after we have entered into the transaction, that individual must nevertheless follow the procedures set forth in the policy.

Director Independence

Our common stock is listed on The NASDAQ Stock Market. The Board has determined that, other than Mr. Talwalkar, our Chief Executive Officer, all current directors, including those who serve on the Board's Audit, Compensation and Nominating and Corporate Governance Committees, are independent directors for purposes of Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) of The NASDAQ Stock Market, and that the members of the Audit Committee are also independent for purposes of Rule 10A-3(b)(1) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The Board used the criteria set out in Listing Rule 5605(a)(2) and the related interpretive material and Rule 10A-3(b)(1) in making these determinations.

The Board based its determinations primarily on a review of the responses of the directors and executive officers to questions regarding employment and compensation history, affiliations and family and other relationships and on discussions with the directors. The Board also reviewed the relationships between LSI and companies with which our directors are affiliated. None of the relationships considered were outside of the criteria referred to in the preceding paragraph. Because of the importance of the company's relationship with Seagate Technology, the Board did specifically consider the fact that Gregorio Reyes, the Chairman of the Board, is also a director of Seagate.

Item 14. Principal Accounting Fees and Services

PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, an independent registered public accounting firm, audited our 2013 and 2012 consolidated financial statements. The following table presents the fees billed by PricewaterhouseCoopers to LSI for services rendered in 2013 and 2012.

Under its charter, the Audit Committee must pre-approve all engagements of the independent auditors unless an exception to such pre-approval requirement exists under applicable law. Each year, the committee approves the retention of the independent auditors to audit our financial statements, including proposed fees, before the filing of the preceding year's annual report on Form 10-K. At the beginning of the year, the committee evaluates other known potential engagements of the independent auditors, including the scope of the work proposed to be performed and the proposed fees, and approves or rejects each engagement, taking into account whether the services are permissible under applicable law and the possible impact of each non-audit service on the independent auditors' independence from management. Quarterly, the committee receives updates on the services actually provided by the independent auditors, and management may present additional services for approval. Typically, these are services that would not have been known at the beginning of the year, such as due diligence for an acquisition.

Under the committee's charter, the Chairperson of the committee has the authority to evaluate and approve engagements on behalf of the committee in the event that a need arises for pre-approval between committee meetings. This might occur, for example, if we were to propose to execute a financing transaction on an accelerated schedule. If the Chairperson approves any engagements under this authority, he or she will report that approval to the full committee at the next committee meeting. In 2013 and 2012, all engagements of our independent auditors were approved in accordance with our pre-approval requirements.
