ITEM 8.01. OTHER EVENTS.

On December 1, 2011, we received a Notice of Deficiency from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) claiming that we owe additional net taxes of $581 million, plus interest and penalties, based on an audit of the 2004, 2005 and 2006 tax years of Guidant Corporation and its subsidiaries as they existed in that time period. We previously disclosed in our public filings the February 2011 receipt of an IRS Revenue Agent's Report for these years and our expectation that we would not be able to resolve our tax liability for these years through applicable IRS administrative procedures. This Notice of Deficiency is materially consistent with the February 2011 Revenue Agent's Report. The incremental tax liability primarily relates to proposed adjustments to Guidant's intercompany transfer pricing in connection with technology license agreements between certain of its domestic and foreign subsidiaries and to the financial terms of our transaction agreement with Abbott Laboratories pertaining to the sale of Guidant's vascular intervention business to Abbott in April 2006. The proposed IRS adjustments are based on positions substantially similar to those currently subject to our U.S. Tax Court proceedings for the 2001, 2002 and 2003 tax years of Guidant and the 2006 and 2007 tax years of Boston Scientific.

We do not agree with the transfer pricing methodologies applied by the IRS or its resulting assessment and we believe that the IRS has exceeded its authority by attempting to adjust the terms of our negotiated third-party agreement with Abbott. We intend to file a timely petition to the U.S. Tax Court contesting the IRS assessment. We believe that we have meritorious defenses for our tax filings, that the IRS positions with regard to these matters are inconsistent with the applicable tax laws and the existing Treasury regulations, and that the previously reported income tax for the years in question is appropriate. No payments on the net assessment would be required until the dispute is definitively resolved, which, based on experiences of other companies, could take several years. We believe that our income tax reserves associated with these matters are adequate and that the final resolution will not have a material impact on our financial condition or results of operations. However, both the final resolution and potential impact of that resolution are uncertain and could have a material impact on our financial condition or results of operations.
