RISK FACTORS

You should carefully consider the risks described below before making an investment in New Century. The risks and uncertainties described below are not the only ones facing New Century, and there may be additional risks that we do not presently know of or that we consider immaterial. All of these risks may impair our business operations. If any of the following risks actually occurs our business, financial condition or results of operations could be materially adversely affected. In such case, the trading price of our common stock could decline, and you may lose all or part of your investment.

Our Operating Results Fluctuate.

Our results of operations for any quarter or year are not necessarily indicative of results to be expected in future periods. Our future operating results may be affected by various trends and factors that must be managed in order to achieve favorable operating results. The inability to forecast these trends and factors could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, and financial condition. Our operating results have historically been and are expected to continue to be subject to quarterly and yearly fluctuations as a result of a number of factors. These factors include:

- adverse changes in the conditions in the specific markets for our products;
- visibility to, and the actual size and timing of, capital expenditures by our customers;
- inventory practices, including the timing of deployment, of our customers;
- adverse changes in the public and private equity and debt markets and the ability of our customers and suppliers to obtain financing or to fund capital expenditures;
- adverse changes in the credit ratings of our customers and suppliers;
- a general downturn in the overall economy;
- a decline in government defense funding that lowers the demand for defense equipment and retrofitting;
- competitive pricing and availability of competitive products; and
- adverse changes in the ability of the company to obtain financing or to fund capital expenditures, mergers and acquisitions or growth.

As a consequence, operating results for a particular period are difficult to predict. Any of the above factors could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, and financial condition.

We will continue to rely upon external financing sources to meet the cash requirement of our ongoing operations. We are currently seeking additional capital in the form of equity or debt, or a combination thereof. However, there is no guarantee that we will raise sufficient capital to execute our business plan. To the extent that we are unable to raise sufficient capital, our business plan will require substantial modification and our operations curtailed. These conditions raise substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern. Our continuation as a going concern is dependent upon our ability to ultimately attain profitable operations, generate sufficient cash flow to meet our obligations, and obtain additional financing as may be required.

Our Shares Price is Volatile.

Our common stock has experienced, and may continue to experience, substantial price volatility, particularly as a result of variations between our actual or anticipated financial results and the published expectations of analysts and as a result of announcements by our competitors and us. In addition, the stock market has experienced extreme price fluctuations that have affected the market price of many companies and that have often been unrelated to the operating performance of these companies. A major decline in the capital markets generally, or in the market price of our securities may negatively impact our ability to make future strategic acquisitions, raise capital, issue debt, or retain employees. These factors, as well as general economic and political conditions, may in turn have a material adverse effect the market price of our common stock.

FUTURE SALES OF OUR COMMON STOCK REGISTERED FOR PUBLIC SALE BY THIS REGISTRATION STATEMENT COULD CAUSE OUR SHARES PRICE TO PLUMMET, ADVERSELY AFFECTING OUR ABILITY TO RAISE FUNDS IN NEW SHARES OFFERINGS.

After this offering, approximately 13,000,000 shares of common stock shares may be sold on the public market as compared to approximately 6,000,000 prior to this offering. If demand to purchase our shares is weak, our shares price could plummet and cause a significant loss of investment.

THE ISSUANCE OF SHARES UPON CONVERSION OF THE PREFERRED SHARES, AND EXERCISE OF THE WARRANTS MAY CAUSE IMMEDIATE AND SUBSTANTIAL DILUTION TO OUR EXISTING SHAREHOLDERS.

The issuance of shares upon conversion of the preferred shares may result in substantial dilution to the interests of other holders since the selling security holder may ultimately convert and sell the full amount issuable on conversion.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Certain statements in this prospectus that are not related to historical results, including statements regarding our business strategy and objectives and future financial position, are forward-looking statements within the meaning of the federal securities laws. Although we believe that the assumptions on which these forward-looking statements are based are reasonable, we cannot assure that they will prove to be accurate. Actual results could be substantially different from those discussed in the forward-looking statements, due to a variety of factors, including unforeseen changes in regulatory policies, competition from other similar businesses, market factors and general economic conditions. All forward-looking statements contained in this prospectus are qualified in their entirety by this statement.

USE OF PROCEEDS

We have registered these shares because of registration rights granted to the selling security holders. We will not receive any proceeds from the issuance of common stock to the selling security holders.

The number and percentage of shares beneficially owned is determined in accordance with Rule 13d-3 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and the information is not necessarily indicative of beneficial ownership for any other purpose. Under such rule, beneficial ownership includes any shares as to which the selling shareholder has sole or shared voting power or investment power and also any shares which the selling shareholder has the right to acquire within 60 days. The actual number of shares of common stock issuable upon the conversion of the notes is subject to adjustment depending on, among other factors, the future market price of the common stock, and could be materially less or more than the number estimated in the table.

Common shares subject to conversion of the preferred shares are deemed outstanding for purposes of computing the percentage of the person holding such shares, but are not deemed outstanding for purposes of computing the percentage for any other person. Percentages based on 6,382,823 shares of common stock outstanding as of October 7, 2002.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

The selling security holders and any of their pledges, assignees, and successors-in-interest may, from time to time, sell any or all of their shares of common stock on any stock exchange, market, or trading facility on which the shares are traded or in private transactions. These sales may be at fixed or negotiated prices. There is no assurance that the selling security holders will sell any or all of the common stock in this offering. The selling security holders may use any one or more of the following methods when selling shares:

Table of Contents

Ordinary brokerage transactions and transactions in which the broker-dealer solicits purchasers; Block trades in which the broker-dealer will attempt to sell the shares as agent but may position and resell a portion of the block as principal to facilitate the transaction; Purchases by a broker-dealer as principal and resale by the broker-dealer for its own account; an exchange distribution following the rules of the applicable exchange; Privately negotiated transactions; short sales or sales of shares not previously owned by the seller; Broker-dealers may agree with the selling security holders to sell a specified number of such shares at a stipulated price per share; A combination of any such methods of sale; or any other lawful method.

Broker-dealers engaged by the selling security holders might arrange for other brokers-dealers to participate in sales. Broker-dealers may receive commissions or discounts from selling security holders in amounts to be negotiated. If any broker-dealer acts as agent for the purchaser of shares, the broker-dealer may receive commission from the purchaser in amounts to be negotiated. The selling security holders do not expect these commissions and discounts to exceed what is customary in the types of transactions involved.

Underwriter Status

The selling security holders and any broker-dealers or agents that are involved in selling the shares may be considered to be underwriters within the meaning of the Securities Act for such sales. An underwriter is a person who has purchased shares from an issuer with a view towards distributing the shares to the public. In such event, any commissions received by such broker-dealers or agents and any profit on the resale of the shares purchased by them may be considered to be underwriting commissions or discounts under the Securities Act.

If the selling security holder is deemed an underwriter within the meaning of Section 2(11) of the Securities Act, it will be subject to the prospectus delivery requirements.

We are required to pay all fees and expenses incident to the registration of the shares in this offering. However, we will not pay any commissions or any other fees in connection with the resale of the common stock in this offering. We have agreed to indemnify the selling security holders and their officers, directors, employees and agents, and each person who controls any selling shareholder, in certain circumstances against certain liabilities, including liabilities arising under the Securities Act.

If we are notified by the selling security holder that they have a material arrangement with a broker-dealer for the resale of the common stock, then we would be required to amend the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part, and file a prospectus supplement to describe the agreements between the selling security holder and the broker-dealer.

BUSINESS

Corporate History

We are a public company whose common stock is quoted on the OTC Bulletin Board under the symbol NCNC. From February to June 2001, we were in the business of developing an Hispanic e-commerce web-site and providing business to business marketing services to other internet companies wanting to reach the Hispanic market. However, due to the difficulty in raising additional working capital to execute our business plan, we ceased our publishing, marketing and internet operations in February 2001.

On May 25, 2001, we, through a merger, acquired New Century Remanufacturing, Inc. As a result of the acquisition, we are presently engaged in the manufacturing, remanufacturing and distribution of large computer numerically controlled (CNC) horizontal and vertical turning machines. We provide rebuilt, retrofit and remanufacturing services for numerous brands of machine tools. The remanufacture of a machine tool, typically consisting of replacing all components, realigning the machine, adding updated CNC capability and electrical and mechanical enhancements, generally takes two to four months to complete. Once completed, a remanufactured machine is a like new, state-of-the-art machine costing approximately 40%-50% of the price of a new machine. The warranty policy on a remanufactured machine covers all newly manufactured and remanufactured products and generally provides a two-year parts and labor warranty.

Business Overview

We manufacture original equipment, CNC large turning lathes and attachments under the trade name of Century Turn. We also provide rebuilt, retrofit and remanufacturing services predominantly for the computer numerically controlled horizontal and vertical turning machines.

Computer numerically controlled machines use commands from an on-board computer to control the movement of cutting tools and rotation speeds of the part being produced. The computer control enables the operator to program operations such as part rotation, tooling selection and tooling movement for a specific part and then store that program in memory for future use. The machine is able to produce parts while left unattended. Because of this ability, as well as superior speed of operation, a CNC machine is able to produce the same amount of work as several manually controlled machines, as well as reduce the number of operators required as well as higher throughput because of less rework and scrap. Since the introduction of CNC turning machines, continual advances in computer control technology have allowed for easier programming and additional machine capabilities.

A vertical turning machine permits the customer to produce larger, heavier and more oddly shaped parts on a machine that uses less floor space when compared to a traditional horizontal turning machine because the spindle and ram are aligned on a vertical plane, with the spindle on the bottom.

The primary industry segments in which our machines are utilized to make component parts are power generation for turbines, aerospace for jet engines, components for explosive detection and medical screening devices, bearings for wind turbines, sealing caps for nuclear waste storage casks, components for military equipment (ships, submarines, other), and component parts for the energy sector for natural gas and oil exploration. We sell our products in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Over the last four years, we have designed and developed a large horizontal CNC turning lathe with productivity features new to the metalworking industry. We have applied for a patent for the Century

Table of Contents

Turn Lathe. We believe that a potential market for the Century Turn Lathe, in addition to the markets mentioned above, is aircraft landing gear.

Industry Overview

We provide our manufactured and remanufactured machines as part of the machine tool industry. The machine tool industry worldwide is approximately a 30 billion dollar business annually. The industry is sensitive to market conditions and generally trends downward prior to poor economic conditions, and improves prior to an improvement in economic conditions.

Our machines are utilized in a wide variety of industry segments as follows: aerospace, energy, valves, fittings, oil and gas, machinery and equipment, medical, security, other defense products, nuclear waste storage and transportation.

Marketing

We market our CNC turning lathes primarily through direct sales and independent representatives throughout the United States. We also market our lathes through advertising in industrial trade publications.

We market our CNC vertical boring mills by advertising in regional and national trade publications and distribute product literature explaining the differences between used and remanufactured machinery.

Business Strategy and Market Development

Our business strategy is to capitalize on the opportunities for growth in our core business by increasing our penetration of existing markets through acquisitions and expanding into new markets by introducing new products and services.

Seasonality

Our business is subject to certain seasonal fluctuations in sales, with a pattern of net sales being lower in the second fiscal quarter, due to plant closings in the summer months and vacations.

Competition

The market for remanufacturing services for the machine tools is competitive, with competition from numerous independent rebuild suppliers with various sales and resource levels. The competition is primarily for the smaller sized machines (up to 60 inches). Management believes that we have a competitive advantage because we employ skilled personnel who have been trained for and have experience with these products. Principal competitive advantages for our products and services are proprietary technology, customer service, technical rapid support, delivery and price.

Sources and Availability of Raw Materials

Our products are manufactured from various raw materials, including cast iron, sheet metal, bar steel and bearings. Although our operations are highly integrated, we purchase a number of components from outside suppliers, including the computer and electronic components for our CNC turning lathes. There are multiple suppliers for virtually all of our raw material and components and we have not experienced a supply interruption. The old machines used as the basis for remanufacturing are readily available in the marketplace as thousands of these machines were built during the 1950 s, 1960 s, 1970 s, and 1980 s.

Patents and Trademarks

We have applied for patents, trademarks and copyrights relating to our manufactured products. However, our business generally is not dependent upon the protection of any patent, patent application or patent license agreement, or group thereof, and would not be materially affected by the expiration thereof.

Employees

At February 28, 2002, the Company had 40 employees.

Environmental Matters

This industry in which we compete is subject to environmental laws and regulations concerning emissions to the air, discharges to waterways, and the generation, handling, storage, transportation, treatment and disposal of waste materials. These laws and regulations are constantly evolving and we cannot predict accurately the effect they will have on our business in the future. It is our policy to comply with all applicable environmental, health and safety laws and regulations. In many instances, the regulations have not been finalized. Even where regulations have been adopted, they are subject to varying and conflicting interpretations and implementation. In some cases, compliance can only be achieved by capital expenditures. We cannot accurately predict what capital expenditures, if any, may be required. We believe that our operations are in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations relating to environmental matters.

MANAGEMENT S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OR PLAN OF OPERATION

The following discussion should be read along with the consolidated financial statements and the related notes appearing elsewhere in this prospectus.

Overview

On May 25, 2001, we acquired all of the outstanding capital stock of New Century Remanufacturing, Inc. in exchange of 2,695,942 shares for the Registrant s common stock. For accounting purposes, this acquisition will be treated as a recapitalization of New Century Remanufacturing, Inc. with New Century Remanufacturing, Inc. as the acquirer. However, since the acquisition was completed after the end of the Company s fiscal year, the discussion below provides information with respect to the separate results of operations of each of the Company (pre-acquisition) and New Century Remanufacturing, Inc. As a result of the acquisition, the Registrant is now engaged in the business of manufacturing and remanufacturing machines as part of the machine tool industry.

Plan of Operations

The earnings of New Century for the year ended 2001 were negative as a result of management s strategy for continued investment in research development of new projects and of the corporate expenses related to the public company. The goal of these expenditures was to position New Century as a leading manufacturer and remanufacturer of large horizontal and vertical turning machines. New Century has completed the majority of this current development effort and expects limited resources to be devoted to this area in the next fiscal year.

Table of Contents

Our current strategy is to expand our customer sales base with its present line of machine products. Plans for expansion are expected to be funded through current working capital from ongoing sales and debt or equity. However, significant growth will require additional funds in the form of debt or equity, or a combination thereof. However, there can be no assurance these funds will be available.

Our growth strategy also includes strategic acquisition in addition to growing its current business. A significant acquisition will require additional financing. There can be no assurance that the Company can obtain such financing.

Results of Operations

New Century generated revenues of $6,138,829 for fiscal year ended December 31, 2001, which was $935,318 decrease from $7,074,147 for the year ending December 31, 2000. This decrease was primarily a result of the economic slow down in 2001.

Gross profit for the year ending December 31, 2001, was $1,004,241 or 16% of revenues, compared to $357,875, or 5% in 2000, an increase of 180%, primarily due to product development and research reflected in productivity improvement.

Net operating loss increased to $478,666 for the year December 31, 2001 compared to $395,075 for year ended December 31, 2000 due to the non-recurring corporate expenses related to becoming a public company.

Interest expense for the year ended December 31, 2001, decreased to $66,507, compared to $67,839, year ended December 31, 2000, primarily due to a decrease of the prime lending rate.

Financial Condition, Liquidity, Capital Resources

Net cash used in the operations of New Century during fiscal year 2001 was $483,855, which was a $1,044,154 increase from fiscal year 2000. The increase is due to corporate expenses related to becoming a public company. New century financed its cash flow deficiency by securing financing through the placement of common stock and notes payable. Total cash provided by financing activities amounted to $375,736 for the fiscal year 2001.

The Registrant plans to continue to rely upon external financing sources to meet the cash requirement of its ongoing operations. Management is currently seeking to raise additional funding on the form of equity or debt, or a combination thereof. However, there is no guarantee that it will raise sufficient capital to execute its business plan. To the extent that the Registrant is unable to raise sufficient capital, the Registrant's business plan will be required to be substantially modified and its operations curtailed.

The Company's auditors have issued their report which contains an explanatory paragraph as to the company's ability to continue as a going concern. The company is currently addressing its liquidity problem by the following actions:

The Company continues its aggressive program to sell inventory that has been produced or is currently in production.

The Company continues to implement plans to further reduce operating costs.

Table of Contents

The Company is continually seeking investment capital through the public markets. However, there is no guarantee that any of these strategies will enable the company to meet its obligations for the foreseeable future.

Inflation and Changing Prices

The Registrant does not foresee any adverse effects on its earnings as a result of inflation or changing prices.

Six-month period Ended June 30, 2002 compared to the Six-month period ended June 30, 2001

Results of Operations

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2002, total revenues were $3,571,043, which was an increase of $333,647 or 10% from revenues of $3,237,396 in the corresponding period in 2001. The increase is the result of an increase in customer's orders.

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2002, gross profit was $696,406 or 19% of revenue, compared to $443,012 in the corresponding period in 2001, an increase by $253,394. The increase is the result of improved productivity in manufacturing.

Interest expense for the six-month period ended June 30, 2002, increased by $134,349. This increase is the result of amortization of the discount relating to the warrants on a short-term loan obtained in December 2001.

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2002 operating expenses increased by $382,881 or 79%. This increase is related to our move to a larger facility on February 2002.

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2002, we had a net loss of $319,726 compared to a net loss of $129,283 for the corresponding period in 2001. The increase in net loss is attributable to costs associated with the expansion of our operations and the cost incurred by moving to a larger facility.

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2002, loss per share increase by $0.09 from $0.03 for the six-month period ended June 30, 2001 to $0.12 for the corresponding period in 2002. The increase in loss per share is attributable to a discount on deemed dividends of $308,029 related to private placement of our Series C 5% Convertible Preferred Shares.

Financial Condition, Liquidity and Capital Resources

Our primary liquidity needs are to fund capital expenditures. We have financed our working capital requirements through a combination of internally generated cash, short-term loans and private placements.

Cash was $331,677 as of June 30, 2002. This represents an increase of $310,174 from June 30, 2001. The increase was primarily due to proceeds from financing activities.

We received $905,552 from the sale of 44,000 shares of Series C 5% Convertible Preferred Shares in a private placement completed on June 22, 2002. These proceeds were used to purchase property and equipment and for working capital.

Table of Contents

We intend to pursue external financing sources to meet the cash requirement of ongoing operations. Management is currently seeking to raise additional funds in the form of a equity or debt securities offering, or a combination thereof. However, there is can be no guarantee that we will raise sufficient capital to execute our business plan. To the extent that we are unable to raise sufficient capital, our business plan will require substantial modified and our operations may be curtailed. These conditions raise substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern. Continuation as a going concern is dependent upon our ability to ultimately attain profitable operations, generate sufficient cash flow to meet obligations, and obtain additional financing as may be required.

Critical Accounting Policies

The Company uses the percentage-of-completion method of accounting to account for long-term contracts and, therefore, take into account the cost, estimated earnings, and revenue to date on fixed-fee contracts not yet completed. The percentage-of-completion method is used because management considers total cost to be the best available measure of progress on the contracts. Because of inherent uncertainties in estimating costs, it is at least reasonably possible that the estimates used will change within the near term.

The amount of revenue recognized at the statement date is the portion of the total contract price that the cost expended to date bears to the anticipated final cost, based on current estimates of cost to complete. It is not related to the progress billings to customers. Contract costs include all materials, direct labor, machinery, subcontract costs, and allocations of indirect overhead.

Because long-term contracts extend over one or more years, changes in job performance, changes in job conditions, and revisions of estimates of cost and earnings during the course of the work are reflected in the accounting period in which the facts that require the revision become known. At the time a loss on a contract becomes known, the entire amount of the estimated ultimate loss is recognized in the financial statements.

Contracts that are substantially complete are considered closed for financial statement purposes. Revenue earned on contracts in progress in excess of billings (underbillings) is classified as a current asset. Amounts billed in excess of revenue earned (overbillings) are classified as a current liability.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In April 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 145, RESCISSION OF FASB STATEMENTS NO. 4, 44 AND 64, AMENDMENT OF FASB STATEMENT NO. 13, AND TECHNICAL CORRECTIONS. SFAS No. 145 updates, clarifies, and simplifies existing accounting pronouncements. This statement rescinds SFAS No. 4, which required all gains and losses from extinguishments of debt to be aggregated and if material, classified as an extraordinary item, net of related income tax effect. As a result, the criteria in APB No. 30 will now be used to classify those gains and losses. SFAS No. 64 amended SFAS No. 4 and is no longer necessary as SFAS No. 4 has been rescinded. SFAS No. 44 has been rescinded as it is no longer necessary. SFAS No. 145 amends SFAS No. 13 to require that certain lease modifications that have economic effects similar to sale-leaseback transactions be accounted for in the same manner as sale-lease transactions. This statement also makes technical corrections to existing pronouncements. While those corrections are not substantive in nature, in some instances, they may change accounting practice. The Company does not expect adoption of SFAS No. 145 to have a material impact, if any, on its financial position or results of operations.

Table of Contents

In June 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 146 Accounting for Costs Associated with exit or Disposal Activities. This Statement addresses financial accounting and reporting for costs associated with exit or disposal activities and nullifies Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) Issue No. 94-3, Liability Recognition for Certain Employee Termination Benefits and Other Costs to Exit an Activity (including Certain Costs Incurred in a Restructuring). This Statement requires that a liability for a cost associated with an exit or disposal activity be recognized when the liability is incurred. Under Issue 94-3 a liability for an exit cost as defined, was recognized at the date of an entity's commitment to an exit plan. This statement will not have a material impact on the Company's financial statements.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR S REPORT

To the Board of Directors
New Century Companies, Inc. and subsidiary
Santa Fe Springs, California

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheet of New Century Companies, Inc. and subsidiary as of December 31, 2001, and the related consolidated statements of operations, shareholders' deficit, and cash flows for each of the two years in the period ended December 31, 2001. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of New Century Companies, Inc. and subsidiary as of December 31, 2001, and the consolidated results of their operations and their cash flows for each of the two years in the period ended December 31, 2001 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 2 to the financial statements, the Company's current liabilities exceed its current assets. This raises substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plan in regard to these matters is also described in Note 2. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

NOTE 2 GOING CONCERN AND RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

Going Concern

The Company's financial statements have been presented on the basis that it is a going concern, which contemplates the realization of assets and the satisfaction of liabilities in the normal course of business. As of December 31, 2001, the Company had high levels of inventory, its current liabilities exceeded its current assets, and it is not in compliance with loan terms, which caused the Company liquidity issues.

In response to these problems, management has taken the following actions:

The Company continues its aggressive program for selling inventory.

The Company continues to implement plans to further reduce operating costs.

The Company merged with a public company in May 2001 (see Note 1) and is in the process of issuing a private placement.

The Company is seeking investment capital through the public markets.

The Company has secured approximately $1,815,500 worth of new orders from January 2002 through March 2002.

The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might be necessary should the Company be unable to implement any or all of these plans.

Listing and Maintenance Criteria for NASDAQ Securities

The Company intends to apply for listing of its common stock on NASDAQ for the Small-Cap Market. The initial listing standards for the NASDAQ Small-Cap Market require that the Company have total assets of at least $4,000,000, total shareholders' equity of at least $2,000,000, a public float of at least 100,000 shares with a market value of at least $1,000,000, at least 300 shareholders, a minimum bid price for its common stock of $3 per share, and at least two market makers. To maintain its listing on the NASDAQ Small-Cap Market, the Company must continue to be registered under Section 12(g) of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and have total assets of at least $2,000,000, total shareholders' equity of at least $1,000,000, a public float of at least 100,000 shares with a market value of at least $200,000, at least 300 shareholders, a minimum bid price for its common stock of $1 per share, and at least two market makers. There is not an assurance that the Company will be able to obtain or maintain the standards for NASDAQ Small-Cap Market listing.

NOTE 2 GOING CONCERN AND RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES (Continued)

Concentrations of Risk

Financial instruments which potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist of cash and contracts receivable. The Company places its cash with high credit, quality financial institutions. At times, such cash may be in excess of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insurance limit of $100,000. At December 31, 2001, the uninsured portions held at the financial institutions aggregated to $118,573. The Company has not experienced any losses in such accounts and believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash. With respect to contracts receivable, the Company routinely assesses the financial strength of its customers and, as a consequence, believes that the receivable credit risk exposure is limited.

Major Customers

During the year ended December 31, 2001, the Company conducted business with three customers whose sales comprised 28%, 22%, and 10% of net sales. As of December 31, 2001, three customers accounted for 44%, 36%, and 15% of total contracts receivable.

Major Suppliers

During the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000, the Company conducted business with one supplier who accounted for 32% and 27% of total purchases, respectively. As of December 31, 2001, two suppliers accounted for 21% and 12% of total accounts payable.

Method of Accounting for Long-Term Contracts

The Company uses the percentage-of-completion method of accounting to account for long-term contracts and, therefore, take into account the cost, estimated earnings, and revenue to date on fixed-fee contracts not yet completed. The percentage-of-completion method is used because management considers total cost to be the best available measure of progress on the contracts. Because of inherent uncertainties in estimating costs, it is at least reasonably possible that the estimates used will change within the near term.

The amount of revenue recognized at the statement date is the portion of the total contract price that the cost expended to date bears to the anticipated final cost, based on current estimates of cost to complete. It is not related to the progress billings to customers. Contract costs include all materials, direct labor, machinery, subcontract costs, and allocations of indirect overhead.

Because long-term contracts extend over one or more years, changes in job performance, changes in job conditions, and revisions of estimates of cost and earnings during the course of the work are reflected in the accounting period in which the facts that require the revision become known. At the time a loss on a contract becomes known, the entire amount of the estimated ultimate loss is recognized in the financial statements.

Contracts that are substantially complete are considered closed for financial statement purposes. Revenue earned on contracts in progress in excess of billings (underbillings) is classified as a current asset. Amounts billed in excess of revenue earned (overbillings) are classified as a current liability.

Comprehensive Income

The Company utilizes Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 130, Reporting Comprehensive Income. This statement establishes standards for reporting comprehensive income and its components in a financial statement. Comprehensive income as defined includes all changes in equity (net assets) during a period from non-owner sources. Examples of items to be included in comprehensive income, which are excluded from net income, include foreign currency translation adjustments and unrealized gains and losses on available-for-sale securities. Comprehensive income is not presented in the Company's financial statements since the Company did not have any of the items of comprehensive income in any period presented.

NOTE 3 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)Inventory

Inventory is comprised primarily of work in process and is valued at the lower of cost (first-in, first-out method) or market. Cost components include material, direct labor, machinery, subcontracts, and allocations of indirect overhead.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost. The Company provides for depreciation and amortization using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the various classes of property and equipment as follows:

Machinery and equipment	5 years
Computer equipment	5 years
Capital lease equipment	5 years
Leasehold improvements	5 years

Maintenance and repair costs are expensed as they are incurred while renewals and improvements of a significant nature are capitalized. At the time of retirement or disposal of property and equipment, the cost and related accumulated depreciation or amortization are removed from the accounts, and any resulting gain or loss is reflected in the results of operations.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

For the Company's financial instruments, including cash, contracts receivable, accounts payable, and accrued expenses, the carrying amounts approximate fair value due to their short maturities. The amounts shown for notes payable and capital lease obligations also approximate fair value because current interest rates offered to the Company for debt of similar maturities are substantially the same.

Stock-Based Compensation

SFAS No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation, establishes and encourages the use of the fair value based method of accounting for stock-based compensation arrangements under which compensation cost is determined using the fair value of stock-based compensation determined as of the date of grant and is recognized over the periods in which the related services are rendered. The statement also permits companies to elect to continue using the current implicit value accounting method specified in Accounting Principles Board (APB) Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, to account for stock-based compensation issued to employees.

The Company has elected to use the implicit value based method and has disclosed the pro forma effect of using the fair value based method to account for its stock-based compensation. For stock-based compensation issued to non-employees, the Company uses the fair value method of accounting under the provisions of SFAS No. 123.

Advertising

Advertising expenses are charged to expense as incurred. For the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000 and the six months ended June 30, 2002 and 2001, total advertising expense was $83,812, $204,832, $0 (unaudited), and $0 (unaudited), respectively.

Income Taxes

The Company provides for income taxes in accordance with SFAS No. 109, Accounting for Income Taxes. Deferred income taxes are provided on a liability method, whereby deferred tax assets are recognized for deductible temporary differences, and deferred tax liabilities are recognized for taxable temporary differences. Temporary differences are the differences between the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and their tax bases. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance when, in the opinion of management, it is more likely than not that some portion of all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are adjusted for the effects of changes in tax laws and rates on the date of enactment.

As of April 30, 2001, the Company's federal filing status was changed from S corporation to C corporation status. Under its S corporation status, any profits or losses in the Company were passed on to its shareholders and were not taxed at the corporate level. Taxes recorded on the accompanying financial statements are only those for the period from May 1, 2001 through December 31, 2001 and may not be indicative of future tax provisions.

The pro forma effects of taxes as if the Company had been taxed as a C corporation during the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000 would not have an effect on pro forma basic and diluted loss per share as a full valuation allowance was made on the deferred tax benefit.

NOTE 3 SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)Loss per Share

Loss per share is presented according to SFAS No. 128, Earnings Per Share. Basic loss per share excludes dilution and is computed by dividing net loss available to common shareholders by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding for the period. Diluted loss per share reflects the potential dilution that could occur if securities or other contracts to issue common stock were exercised or converted into common stock. For the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000, because the Company incurred net losses, basic and diluted loss per share are the same. In addition, the Company had certain convertible preferred stock and common stock, including options and warrants, which were not included in diluted loss per share as their effects would have been anti-dilutive.

The components of basic and diluted loss per share for the years ended December 31, 2001 and 2000 and for six months ended June 30, 2002 and 2001 were as follows:

Reclassifications

Certain amounts included in the prior year financial statements have been reclassified to conform with the current year presentation. Such reclassification did not have any effect on reported net loss.

Estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

In June 2001, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued SFAS No. 143, Accounting for Asset Retirement Obligations. This statement applies to legal obligations associated with the retirement of long-lived assets that result from the acquisition, construction, development, and/or the normal operation of long-lived assets, except for certain obligations of lessees. The Company does not expect adoption of SFAS No. 143 to have a material impact, if any, on its financial position or results of operations.

In August 2001, the FASB issued SFAS No. 144, Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets. This statement addresses financial accounting and reporting for the impairment or disposal of long-lived assets. This statement replaces SFAS No. 121, Accounting for the Impairment of Long-Lived Assets and for Long-Lived Assets to be Disposed of, the accounting and reporting provisions of APB No. 30, Reporting the Results of Operations Reporting the Effects of Disposal of a Segment of a Business, and Extraordinary, Unusual, and Infrequently Occurring Events and Transactions, for the disposal of a segment of a business, and amends Accounting Research Bulletin No. 51, Consolidated Financial Statements, to eliminate the exception to consolidation for a subsidiary for which control is likely to be temporary. The Company does not expect adoption of SFAS No. 144 to have a material impact, if any, on its financial position or results of operations.

In April 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 145, Rescission of FASB Statements No. 4, 44, and 64, Amendment of FASB Statement No. 13, and Technical Corrections. SFAS No. 145 updates, clarifies, and simplifies existing accounting pronouncements. This statement rescinds SFAS No. 4, which required all gains and losses from extinguishment of debt to be aggregated and, if material, classified as an extraordinary item, net of related income tax effect. As a result, the criteria in APB No. 30 will now be used to classify those gains and losses. SFAS No. 64 amended SFAS No. 4 and is no longer necessary as SFAS No. 4 has been rescinded. SFAS No. 44 has been rescinded as it is no longer necessary. SFAS No. 145 amends SFAS No. 13 to require that certain lease modifications that have economic effects similar to sale-leaseback transactions be accounted for in the same manner as sale-lease transactions. This statement also makes technical corrections to existing pronouncements. While those corrections are not substantive in nature, in some instances, they may change accounting practice. The Company does not expect adoption of SFAS No. 145 to have a material impact, if any, on its financial position or results of operations.

In June 2002, the FASB issued SFAS No. 146, Accounting for Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities. This statement addresses financial accounting and reporting for costs associated with exit or disposal activities and nullifies Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) Issue No. 94-3, Liability Recognition for Certain Employee Termination Benefits and Other Costs to Exit an Activity (including Certain Costs Incurred in a Restructuring). This statement requires that a liability for a cost associated with an exit or disposal activity be recognized when the liability is incurred. Under EITF Issue 94-3, a liability for an exit cost, as defined, was recognized at the date of an entity's commitment to an exit plan. The provisions of this statement are effective for exit or disposal activities that are initiated after December 31, 2002 with earlier application encouraged. The Company does not expect adoption of SFAS No. 146 to have a material impact, if any, on its financial position or results of operations.

In accordance with accounting for such options utilizing the intrinsic value method, there is not any related compensation expense recorded in the Company's financial statements.
